THE Board of Trade have received from the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs a Despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Rio, enclosing a translation of a Decree of the Brazilian Government, modifying the Customs and Anchorage Dues of that Empire.

A copy of the translation is subjoined :

MINISTRY OF FINANCE.

Decree 5,455, of November 5th, 1873, modifying various Taxes collected by the Customs

Using the authorization conferred by Art. 11, sections 1, 2, 4, 6 and 7 of the Act No. 2,348, of August 25th last, I am pleased to Decree as follows :—

Art. 1. From the 1st of January next shall cease in the Custom Houses of the Empire the collection of the additional duties of 5 per cent. created by Act No. 1,114 of September 27th, 1860, and of the percentages of 28 per cent. and 21 per cent. on the duties of consumption, established by Resolution No. 2,035 of September 23rd, 1871.

In substitution of those taxes, and until the new tariff be promulgated, there shall be levied, besides the import duties established in the tariff now in force, a percentage calculated on the amount of the said duties, in the following manner : 30 per cent. for the goods tariffed at 40 per cent. and 50 per cent. ; 35 per cent. for those of class 18, now paying the percentage of 21 per cent., and 40 per cent. for all other goods. The aforesaid percentage shall be diminished gradually, in the proportion to be fixed in future Laws of Estimates.

Art. 2. From the same date the anchorage due shall become 200 reis per metric ton of the measurement, the tonnage of vessels measured in any other way being reduced to this measure, for the calculation of the impost.

Sec. 1. All foreign vessels entering ports of the Empire with or without cargo, coming or not from a foreign port, shall be liable to the payment of this impost ; excepting only :

1st. Vessels enjoying exemption by virtue of subsisting contracts.

2nd. Vessels of war.

3rd. Vessels putting in for any reason, duly proved, in accordance with the present legislation.

4th. Vessels bringing colonists to reside in the Empire, to a number exceeding 100, and of 7 years of age and above.

Cabin passengers shall not be counted in this number, nor passengers admitted to the captain's table, nor persons who for any other special reason cannot properly be considered colonists.

Sec. 2. Vessels not bringing 100 colonists but bringing at least one for every 20 metric tons, shall pay the anchorage due with the abatement of two tons for each colonist.

Sec. 3. Vessels entering in frankia or calling, in accordance with Art. 665 of the Regulation of September 11th, 1860, neither loading nor unloading, shall pay the tax of 20 reis per metric ton for each day of stay.

Sec. 4. Vessels having paid, in one or more ports, the anchorage due six times within one year, shall be exempt from the said tax throughout the year.

Art. 3. Henceforth timber and any other articles of Brazilian production employed in the repair and fitting of foreign vessels lying in ports of the Empire, remain exempt from the payment of export duties.

It pertains to the Inspectors of the Custom Houses of the ports wherein the vessels are under work, to concede the aforesaid exemption, save the legal appeals, and with the necessary enquiries, not only to limit the quality and quantity of the materials cleared for the purpose, but also to see that the repairs are effected in the said ports.

Art. 4. In the process of collection, guard and auction of salvage from vessels wrecked on the coasts of Brazil, the taxes and other expenses deducted from the proceeds of the sale shall be levied at the rate of only half the amount to which, according to the ruling legislation, the State Treasury, the judicial authorities and the employes taking part in said operations would have right.

The pay of any public force employed to guard the salvage shall not be deducted from those proceeds.

The Government shall issue, through the proper Departments, the necessary instructions for the good execution of the provisions of this Article.

Art. 5. To facilitate clearance, and whenever the press of business calls for it, the Inspectors of the Custom Houses may permit the clearers to present their clearance notes fully written out and calculated for the payment of the due duties. This circumstance, however, will not exempt the said notes from the checkings or examinations prescribed by the Regulations, nor the clearers from the fines incurred, according to the law, for differences of quality and quantity found.

Sec. 1. The notes, thus made out, and having on them a note of having been checked, signed by the Conferentes, shall go to the Section of Scripturation solely to be noted in the receipt book in the act of payment of the due duties, and shall pass immediately after the egress of the goods to the revision treated of in Art. 29, sec. 4 of the Regulation of September 19th, 1860.

Sec. 2. The Inspectors shall permit the previous examination of packages, on the need of this being proved or alleged, in accordance with art. 22nd of Decree No. 3,217 of December 31st, 1863 ; and may elevate to 5 per cent., according to the circumstances of the case, the fine of 1 1/2 per cent., treated of in Art. 545, sec. 2 of the cited Regulation of September 19th, 1860, saving the provision of sec. 3 of the said Article.

Art. 6. All provisions to the contrary are hereby revoked.

Visconde of Rio Branco, Counsellor of State, Senator of the Empire, President of the Council of Ministers, Minister and Secretary of State for Affairs of Finance and President of the Tribunal of the National Treasury, shall so understand and have executed. The Board of Trade have received through the the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs a Despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Athens, containing a translation, into French, of a Royal Decree regarding Quarantine in Greek Ports.

An English translation of the Decree is subjoined :—

GEORGE I.

King of the Greeks.

WISHING to grant to Commerce and International Communication all facilities compatible with the interest of the public health ;

On the proposition of our Minister, Secretary of State for Home Affairs, and with the advice of the Medical Council,

We have ordained and do ordain that Articles 5 and 7, of our Ordinance of the 19th July, 1866, shall be modified as follows :

ARTICLE 5.

Sec. 1. Vessels of war generally, and packet boats belonging to Companies with which the State has made and maintains postal or steam navigation arrangements, shall, if arriving from countries infected with cholera, be subjected to an effective quarantine of five days in cases where their passage has occupied fifteen entire days. If the passage has occupied more than twenty days, they shall only be subjected to a quarantine of observation for twenty-four hours. If the passage has occupied more than fifteen and less than twenty days, the said ships shall be kept in quarantine for a sufficient number of days to make up twenty-one days since their departure from the infected country.

If the passage has occupied less than twenty but more than seventeen days, the Health Office, taking into account the following points, viz., the size and accommodation of the port where it is established, and the comparative violence of the epidemic at the port of departure, the number of passengers and crew of the vessel arriving, the provisions for ventilation on board, and the state of health of the crew and passengers during the voyage, as shown by their declarations made in conformity with Articles 19-31, of the Sanitary Regulation, may, after taking the advice of the Sanitary Commission, either send the vessel to the proper lazaretto or authorize her to enter the port under surveillance during the days of quarantine which have still to be undergone.

Sec. 2. Steamers and sailing vessels belonging to the mercantile marine shall, every time they arrive from countries infected with cholera, be subjected to an effective quarantine of five days, if they have been at sea more than twenty, but not more than twenty-five days. If they have been out more than twenty-five days they will only require a quarantine of observation lasting twenty-four hours. If their voyage has occupied more than twenty, but not more than twenty-five days, they shall be detained until twenty-five days have elapsed since their leaving an infected country.

Sec. 3. In all the cases specified in the two sections above, it must be clearly understood that the steamers or other vessels have had during their voyage no communication with infected places or ships, and that the persons on board have not been attacked by epidemic disease en route, and that they are in good health at the time of their arrival.

Sec. 4. Steamers and other vessels arriving from infected countries cannot under any circumstances pass their quarantine except in the lazarettos set apart for the purpose, or in ports where Health Offices are established with lazarettos under their jurisdiction.

ARTICLE 7.

Sec. 1. If the steamers or other vessels mentioned in Article 5 of the present Ordinance arrive from countries under suspicion of choleraic infection, then those specified in Sec. 1 shall be admitted to free pratique in case they shall have been fifteen entire days at sea, and shall besides be in the favourable conditions mentioned in Sec. 3 ; but in case they have been on the voyage more than ten and less than fifteen days they shall be kept in quarantine until fifteen days have elapsed since their leaving the suspected country. As for the steamers and other vessels mentioned in Sec. 2, they shall be admitted to free pratique if they have been more than twenty days at sea, and are in the favourable conditions above-mentioned. If their voyage has lasted more than fifteen, but less than twenty days, they shall be kept in quarantine until twenty days have elapsed since their departure from the suspected country.

Sec. 2. Steamers and other vessels of war arriving from suspected countries may, at the first port of call where there is a Health Office, take on board quarantine officers (gardes sanitaires), and can then go on to any other port in the kingdom where there is a Health Office in order to pass their quarantine.

The Office of Health shall supply the officers asked for, after having made the necessary enquiries in conformity with Arts. 19-31 of the Sanitary Regulation, and the medical visit required by Art. 81 of that regulation, in case the said vessels have not on board a proper medical man. In these cases the quarantine shall be reckoned from the day the Health Officers came on board.

Sec. 3. Merchandise coming from suspected countries shall not be subject to quarantine, but shall be landed under the surveillance of the Sanitary Authority, who will prevent the receivers of the goods from communicating with the ship in quarantine or with those on board, and who will be held responsible for any neglect of this precaution.

The Royal Ordinance of December the 20th, 1866, and all other regulations which are inconsistent with the present Ordinance shall be revoked from the date of the publication of the present Ordinance.

Our Minister, Secretary of State for Home Affairs, shall provide for the publication and execution of this present Ordinance.

Athens, November the 15th, 1873.

(Countersigned) DELIGEORGES.

FROM THE
LONDON GAZETTE of MARCH 3,
1874.

War Office, March 3, 1873.

THE Secretary of State for War has received Despatches, of which the following are copies, from Major-General Sir Garnet Joseph Wolseley, C.B., K.C.M.G., Commanding the Troops on the Gold Coast :—

Head Quarters, Camp, Insarfu,
SIR, January 30, 1874.

I HAVE the honour to lay before you the following further reports as to the progress of the four columns last named in my despatch of the 25th instant.

Right Column.—Captain Glover has reported up to the 17th instant. He had crossed the Prah on the 15th, with about 750 Houssas and Yorubas, and had advanced to Obogo, whence he dates his despatch. He had taken this village by assault his troops having been fired upon as they were marching towards it. He had seven Houssas and one Yoruba wounded ; the enemy's loss not being ascertained. Being in want of ammunition and supplies, he would be compelled to halt. His troops had behaved well, except in their "wild and unnecessary firing."

Second Column.—Captain Butler's last report is dated 24th instant. He writes from Yancoma, where he had arrived on the 22nd instant, about twenty miles north of the Prah. Hence two paths branch off, one towards Lake Boosum-Eching, the other towards Dadiasoo, in a westerly direction. He had proposed to follow the latter path, but the opposition of the kings was such that he was forced to abandon the movement. He hoped to get his whole force to move on the 25th ; but he thus describes his position, "I can scarcely convey to you a true conception of the position in which I find myself. All information is studiously withheld from me ; carriers are constantly refused ; distances are grossly exaggerated ; the most vexatious and trifling pretexts are put forward ; anything and everything is done to effect the one great object,—delay."

Third Main Column.—My advanced posts are to-day on the River Dunsaboo about two and a quarter miles beyond this place, and within three-quarters of a mile of the enemy's forces at Egginassie. My entire force is concentrated here and at Ahkankuassie, two and three-quarter miles in rear, and it is probable that to-morrow I may have to fight whatever force the King has been able to collect to resist my advance. Further details of my position are given in the Despatch which accompanies this.

Fourth Column.—The last report from Captain Dalrymple is dated 25th instant from Kotakee ; he had arrived there on the 24th with King Apecoon and about 50 men ; King Aquasi Bedoo was there with no men ; Kroo of Commendah had gone home ; Buarbin and Atrew were still at Damun on pretence of collecting their men.

Captain Dalrymple, though he had used every effort to influence the kings, was of opinion that he would be fortunate if he should succeed in crossing the frontier with 200 men.

I have, &c.,

(Signed)

G. J. WOLSELEY,

Major-General.

Head-Quarters, Camp, Insarfu,

January 30, 1874.

SIR,

IN continuation of my Despatch of 25th instant, I have the honour to inform you that the troops forming the column under my immediate command had advanced to the following positions :—

On the Dunsaboo river, about two and a quarter miles beyond this place, is the advanced guard, under Colonel McLeod, consisting of Wood's and Russell's Regiments, and two Rocket Detachments

My own Head-Quarters, the Brigade Staff, the 42nd Regiments, and 2nd Battalion Rifle Brigade, with Rait's Artillery, two 7-pounder rifled guns, and two rocket detachments, are here at Insarfu.

Between this and Ahkankuassie, two and three-quarter miles in rear, are the Naval Brigade, Head-Quarters and detachment, 2nd Battalion, 23rd Regiment, Head-Quarters and detachment 2nd West India Regiment, the Small-Arm Ammunition Reserve, and Field Hospitals.

At Foomanah, to move forward to-morrow, is a detachment of the 1st West India Regiment.

The following fortified posts have been established and garrisoned on my line of communication with Prahsu : — Essiaman, Accrofoomu, Cross Roads, north of Parakoom River, Moinsey, crest of Adansi Hills, Foomanah, Ahkankuassie, and Insarfu.

Although I have used every possible effort, and neglected no means which I could devise to bring about a peaceable solution of the negotiations with the King of Ashanti, I regret that he appears to be determined to resist my further advance on Coomassie.

After I had, on 25th instant, given due warning to the King of Adansi, whom I knew to be on my left flank, that I could not allow his troops to collect there, I ordered a reconnoissance to be made on the 26th, towards the village of Adubiassie, a little to the north-west of Foomanah, which resulted in the capture of the village, two Ashantis being killed, and two captured, without casualty on our side, though the reconnoitring party was opposed by about 200 armed men.

Yesterday, having received information that a considerable body of the enemy was assembled at Borumassie (about six miles west of Kiang Boassu), I ordered a reconnoissance to be made to be made to that village. This reconnoissance, which was commanded by Colonel McLeod, was entirely successful. A body of several hundreds of Ashantis was surprised, and driven out of the village with considerable loss. Fifty-three stand of arms and twelve kegs of powder were destroyed, and several prisoners taken. I have received Colonel McLeod's report, and regret that he has to announce the loss of Captain James Nicol, Adjutant of the Hampshire Militia, who was killed while commanding a company of Russell's Regiment. Our casualties were few,* and I am glad to note that the expenditure of ammunition was small, which shows the steadiness of the troops.

The intelligence report, which I have the honour to forward in despatch, will inform you that the enemy are known to be in position near the villages of Amoaful and Becquah. I intend to attack them to-morrow.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) G. J. WOLSELEY.
Major-General.

War Office, March 6, 1874.

THE Secretary of State for War has received a Despatch and Enclosure, of which the following are copies, from Major-General Sir Garnet Joseph Wolseley, K.C.M.G., C.B., Commanding the Troops on the Gold Coast :—

Head Quarters, Amoaful,

SIR, February 1, 1874.

ACCORDING to the intention expressed in my despatch of 30th ultimo, I yesterday attacked the enemy to the south of this town, and drove them with heavy loss from the position they had selected to fight upon, and where I now find that the King of Ashanti had been for some time collecting his army.

My whole force, divided into four columns, as per margin,* advanced along the main road, preceded by the scouts, until the enemy were met at the village of Egginassie, which was carried by a rush of the scouts at about 8 A.M. The front column then extended into the thick bush on each side of the road, which was cut and widened by labourers under the Royal Engineers, so as to admit of the advance of the guns.

* Front Column.—Brigadier General Sir A. Alison, Bart., C.B.—42nd Highlanders; Head Quarters, and detachment 2nd Battalion 23rd Royal Welsh Fusiliers; Rait's Artillery, two 7-pr. guns, detachment; Royal Engineers, Detachment.

Left Column.—Colonel J. C. McLeod, C.B.—Naval Brigade, Right Wing; Russell's Regiment; Rait's Artillery, two Rocket detachments; Royal Engineers, Detachment.

oppose the invariable flanking tactics of the enemy, which their superior numbers would probably allow them to carry out against any line which I could form.

The front column, under Sir A. Alison, found the enemy in great force beyond a swampy stream to the north of Egginassie (see sketch*) and suffered heavily in dislodging them. They were driven out by the steady advance of the infantry, aided by the fire of Rait's guns. The large numbers of dead Ashantis at this part of the field, and the numbers of the 42nd Highlanders here wounded, showed the stubborn resistance made by the enemy. The 42nd Highlanders finally advanced and captured the town of Amoaful about noon, after being more than four hours in action.

Meanwhile the left column advancing under a heavy fire by which Captain Buckle, R.E., was killed while urging on his labourers, occupied the crest of a hill where a clearing was made, and the enemy driven away from this portion of their camp by an advance of the Naval Brigade and Russell's Regiment. Colonel McLeod having cleared his front and having lost touch of the left of the front column, now cut his way in a northeasterly direction and came into the main road in rear of the Highlanders, about the same hour that the advance occupied Amoaful. I protected his left rear by a detachment of the Rifle Brigade; our left flank was now apparently clear of the enemy.

* The sketch to accompany this dispatch will be forwarded as soon as possible. It would have been sent with this, but the officer who surveyed the ground has been incessantly on active duty since the action, and it has been impossible for him to complete the sketch.

by a fire which prevented the advance of his column for more than a very short distance into the bush, consequently when the front column took Amoaful it would have become detached from the right column, but that communication was kept up along the main road by two companies of the 42nd, the head-quarters and detachment 23rd, and a company of the Rifle Brigade. Long after Amoaful was taken the Ashantis kept up a heavy fire on the right of the main road, and these troops laid down and replied to it, repelling the enemy, but not without loss.

Up to 1.30 P.M., the enemy kept up a very heavy fire on Lieutenant-Colonel Wood's column, whose right was extended into the bush, east of the village of Egginassie. But they made no progress, and soon after half-past one, an advance of the Kossoos and Bonny men of Wood's Regiment drove them away, clearing the flank of the Naval Brigade, and enabling them to complete the discomfiture of the enemy on this flank. By 1.45 P.M. firing had ceased.

At this time heavy firing was heard in rear, and I learnt that another body of the enemy had attacked my entrenched post at Quarman. I sent back part of the Rifle Brigade; but the attack was continued till nightfall, though of course repulsed. Shortly before dark, a large convoy of baggage, which had been parked at Insarfu during the action, and was now ordered on, was fired upon, though accompanied by a large escort. A number of carriers threw down their loads and ran away, and had it not been for the great exertions of Lieutenant-Colonel Colley, whom I have placed in charge of my line of communications, and who recovered much of the baggage during the night, more serious consequences might have ensued than the loss of a few loads which occurred. On learning of this affair, I took immediate steps for clearing my line of communications, and brought in large convoys this morning in perfect safety to Amoafu. The officers commanding the columns as above-named performed their difficult tasks most excellently, and were efficiently aided by their staff; Lieutenant-Colonel Evelyn Wood, V.C., was wounded while at the head of his troops.

Nothing could have exceeded the admirable conduct of the 42nd Highlanders, on whom fell the hardest share of the work. As Colonel McLeod was in command of the left column, this Regiment was led by Major Macpherson, who was twice wounded. The two wings of the Naval Brigade, under command of Captain Grubbe, R.N. (severely wounded), and Commander Luxmore, R.N.; the Head-Quarters and Detachment of the 2nd Battalion 23rd Royal Welsh Fusiliers, under Lieutenant-Colonel Mostyn; the 2nd Battalion Rifle Brigade, under Lieutenant-Colonel Warren; Wood's Regiment, under Captain Furse (42nd Highlanders); Russell's Regiment, under Major Russell (13th Hussars), and the scouts under Lieutenant Lord Gifford (24th Regiment), all behaved steadily and coolly under the trying conditions of a fight in dense bush. Sir A. Alison has brought the valuable services of Captain Rait and his Artillery specially to my notice; and Major Home, Commanding Royal Engineers, led the advanced working party of the front column, being slightly wounded in so doing.

Commodore Hewett, V.C., R.N., was present with me during the action, and placed his services at my disposal. I received every possible assistance from him, and from the following Officers of my Staff:—Colonel Greaves, Chief of the Staff; Major Baker, 18th Regiment, Assistant Adjutant-General ; Captain H. Brackenbury, R.A., Assistant Military Secretary ; Captain Buller, 60th Rifles, D.A.Q.M.G. ; Lieutenant Rolfe, R.N., Naval A.D.C. ; Lieutenant the Honourable H. Wood, 10th Hussars, A.D.C. ; Lieutenant Maurice, R.A., Private Secretary.

The arrangements for the wounded by Surgeon-Major McKinnon, C.B., Principal Medical Officer, were excellent, and I regret that the enclosed return of casualties shows that his duties were not light.

It is difficult to estimate the numbers of an enemy in thick bush, still more difficult to estimate their loss, but the Ashantis opposed to us must have numbered many thousands ; and as we have buried about 150 corpses beside the main road only, and as the enemy ran great risks to carry off their dead, their loss in killed and wounded must have been very heavy.

I intend to-day to attack Becquah, which the scouts report occupied by the enemy.

I have, &c.,

Major-General.

Admiralty, March 5, 1874.

THE accompanying Despatch has been received from Commodore W. N. Hewett, V.C. :—

Head Quarters, Agimmamu, 15 miles from SIR, Coomassie, 10 P.M., February 2, 1874.

I HAVE the honour to request you will inform the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty that since I despatched my letter of the 29th of January, the Naval Brigade, in conjunction with the rest of the troops, has been hotly engaged with the enemy on three separate occasions.

2. On our arrival at Detchiasu, on the morning of the 29th ult., Wood's and Russell's Regiments, with the Naval Brigade and 23rd Fusiliers, under the command of Colonel M'Leod, 42nd Highlanders, were ordered to advance four miles into the bush to the village of Borumassie, and attack it, with the object of driving out the King of Adansi, who, with a large force, was occupying a strong position on our flank. After a sharp engagement the enemy were eventually dislodged, although not without some loss on our side, of which the only particulars I am able to give you are that four men of the Naval Brigade were wounded, two severely and two slightly.

3. On the evening of the 30th of January our troops and carriers were massed at Insarfu, and early on the following morning they advanced in four columns to attack a strong force of the enemy, who had established themselves a short distance south of Amoaful.

4. Without attempting to give the details of the General's plan of operations, I will endeavour to afford such particulars as will enable their Lordships to gain some idea of the position occupied by the Naval Brigade during the engagement.

5. The first encounter took place at 8 A.M., when the village of Egginassie, about a mile from Amoaful, was carried by a rush of the scouts under Lord Gifford.

6. The Naval Brigade was divided into two wings, one, under Captain Walter James H. Grubbe, of Her Majesty's ship "Tamar," being attached to the left column, and the other, under Acting Captain Percy P. Luxmore, of Her Majesty's ship "Druid," to the right.

7. On the advance being made the right and left columns were ordered to cut paths at right angles to the main road, for a distance of 300 yards into the bush, and then to form upon the flanks of the 42nd Regiment, who, in the front column, were making their way through the thick bush on either side of the road.

8. The enemy's centre was at Amoaful, and throwing out two columns towards us in a diagonal direction, they formed, as it were, a broad arrow with the main path, in which order they received our attack.

9. After suffering very heavy losses the 42nd Highlanders eventually captured the town at 1.45 p.m.

10. I have great pleasure in acquainting their Lordships with the steady behaviour of the Naval Brigade. During a very trying time they showed the greatest coolness, and, advancing slowly under a continuous and heavy fire, steadily drove back the enemy until three o'clock, when they forced them to make a precipitate retreat, and the day was ours.

11. Although it is quite impossible to give even an approximate estimate of the strength of the enemy opposed to us, I should say, from the number of Ashantee corpses we have taken from the road side and buried, there must have been several thousands of them.

12. On the baggage being moved up from Insarfu towards the evening, the guard protecting it was attacked, and some of the carriers, dropping their loads, ran away. Nearly all of it was, however, afterwards recovered, and Sir Garnet has since successfully established a line of communication with his rear.

13. On Sunday the Naval Brigade were sent on to a place called Becquah (Baquah?) three miles from Amoafu, where they attacked a large number of Ashantees, and drove them back with considerable loss.

14. On Monday, February 2, we came in here, and to-morrow, at daylight, we are to advance ten miles further, without baggage. This will take us within about five miles of Coomassie.

15. There has been some desultory fighting during the day, in which the Naval Brigade were not engaged.

16. Enclosed is a return of casualties, which does not include the losses suffered by the regiments which, I regret to say, in the case of the 42nd were very heavy.

17. Their Lordships will observe that a very stubborn resistance was offered to us.

(Signed) W. N. HEWETT,
Commodore.

FROM THE SUPPLEMENT
TO THE
LONDON GAZETTE of MARCH 6,
1874.

War Office, March 7, 1874.

LIEUTENANT the Hon. H. J. L. Wood, 10th Hussars, A.D.C., arrived this morning with Despatches from Major-General Sir Garnet Joseph Wolseley, K.C.M.G., C.B., Commanding the Troops on the Gold Coast, addressed to the Secretary of State for War, of which the following are copies :—

SIR, Coomassie,
5th February, 1874.

ACCORDING to the intention expressed in my despatch which I had the honour of addressing to you on the 1st instant, I on that day attacked Becquah, about a mile to the west of Amoaful. The operation was successfully carried out under the command of Brigadier General Sir Archibald Alison, Bart., C.B. The forces engaged were as per margin,* and the casualties are shown in the enclosed statement.

On the day following I moved forward to Agemmum, the enemy disputing every mile of ground. There I established a fortified post, where I left all my tents and baggage.

On the 3rd instant I moved forward again, the enemy in great force opposing our advance, and hanging round our flanks. Whilst on the march, I received a letter from the King, begging me to halt, and saying he would consent to my terms. I replied that he had so deceived me before that I could not trust him, but to prove to him how anxious I was for peace, I would halt for the night on the Ordah River, and would not advance beyond it with all my force until the following morning, if he would send to me at once his mother and brother as hostages.

During the night I had a bridge constructed over the river, and gave the enemy nearly two hours of daylight the following morning (4th) before I crossed the river.

The advanced guard, under the command of Colonel M'Leod, 42nd Highlanders, was brought to a stand-still shortly after the advance began ; and a general action soon developed itself, lasting for more than six hours. The enemy did not, however, fight with the same courage as at Amoaful, for although their resistance was most determined, their fire was wild, and they did not generally attack us at such close quarters as in the former action.

The village of Ordahsu having been carried by the Rifle Brigade at nine o'clock, I massed all my force there, having previously passed all the reserve ammunition, field hospitals, and supplies, through the troops, who held the road between the river and the village, a distance of about a mile. The enemy then attacked the village with large numbers from all sides, and for some hours we could make no progress, but steadily held our ground. The 42nd Highlanders being then sent to the front, advanced with pipes playing, and carried the enemy's position to the north of the village in the most gallant style, Captain Rait's Artillery doing most effective service in covering the attack, which was led by Colonel M'Leod.

After some further fighting on the front line, a panic seems to have seized the enemy, who fled along the road to Coomassie in complete rout. Although the columns they had detailed to assault our flanks and rear continued for some time afterwards to make partial attacks upon the village, we followed close upon the enemy's heels into Coomassie. The town was still occupied by large numbers of armed men, who did not attempt to resist. The King had fled no one knew whither. Our troops had undergone a most fatiguing day's work, no water fit for drinking having been obtained during the action or the subsequent advance, and the previous night's rest having been broken by a tornado, which drenched our bivouac. It was nearly six o'clock when the troops formed up in the main street of Coomassie and gave three cheers for the Queen.

Since my arrival here last night, I have sent several messengers to the King, and used every possible effort to induce him to come in and make peace. Should he refuse my offers, I shall destroy his palace and his capital, and march without a day's delay to the Coast.

I avail myself of this halt in Coomassie, the goal of our military enterprise, to bring before you the names of those Officers who have rendered signal service in the operations so far concluded.

It has seldom been a General's good fortune to be assisted by a staff so thoroughly efficient in all branches, as has been that body of carefully selected Officers forming the Staff of this expedition.

To my personal Staff I am deeply indebted for the manner in which they have performed their duties. Captain H. Brackenbury, my Assistant Military Secretary, a highly-educated Officer, has shown much practical ability in the field, and only requires opportunity for the development of great military talents.

Lieutenant Maurice, R.A., my Private Secretary, has carried on my correspondence with the Colonial Office, and I have brought his name to the notice of the Secretary of State for the Colonies. Both Captain Brackenbury and Lieutenant Maurice have been with me from the first, and have worked indefatigably.

Of Colonel McNeill, who was my Chief of the Staff at the beginning of the war, I have already given my opinion in a previous despatch. His severe wound received in our first fight deprived me of his valuable services. His soldierlike qualities, his powers of mind and body render him an invaluable assistant to any General commanding a force. From the date of his being wounded in October until the 17th December, the duties of Chief of the Staff were ably carried out to my entire satisfaction by Major Baker, the Assistant Adjutant-General, to whose untiring energy I owe much of the success that has attended all our operations. In my opinion he possesses every quality that is valuable in a Staff Officer.

Colonel Graves assumed the duties of Chief of the Staff on 17th December. His great knowledge of the Army, his experience as a Staff Officer, the zeal and ability he brings to bear upon his work mark him out as eminently qualified for the post he occupied. He has rendered me the most valuable service.

The topographical work was well carried out under Captain Huyshe, D.A.Q.M.G., whose death, at Prahsu, on the 19th December, deprived Her Majesty of a gallant soldier. The surveys were made by him, assisted by Captain Buller, 60th Rifles, Lieutenant A. F. Hart, 31st Regiment, and other officers. Lieutenant Hart made nearly all the surveys north of the River Prah.

The duties of the Intelligence Department were most efficiently performed by Captain Buller, D.A.Q.M.G. He is an excellent Staff Officer, and I am much indebted to him for the information of the enemy's doings, that he supplied me with throughout the war. The extensive knowledge he acquired of the native tribes both in Ashanti, and in the territories allied to us, was invaluable to me in my dealings with the Kings and Chiefs.

The medical arrangements for the war were made by Deputy Surgeon-General Home, V.C., C.B. I have in a previous despatch recorded my high appreciation of the ability and energy with which he carried out his duty up to the date of his being invalided, and of the efficient manner in which he prepared for the medical requirements of the troops in the advance upon Coomasssic. The organisation planned by him was well carried out by Surgeon-Major Mackinnon, C.B., who joined me on the march at Acrofoomu, and who has since continued to perform the duties of Principal Medical Officer to my entire satisfaction. Of the Medical Officers employed I wish specially to bring to your notice the services of Surgeons-Major Woolfreys, Mosse, Waters, Jackson, and Turton, and Staff-Surgeon Irwin, R.N., also of Surgeon G. W. M'Nalty, who has had charge of the Head Quarter Staff since we left Cape Coast Castle on our march to Coomassie.

The Control arrangements have been energetically carried out by Deputy-Controller Irvine, C.M.G., with his usual zeal. I cannot award him higher praise than by saying that the men were well fed, and their wants carefully provided for throughout the campaign. The transport, that at one time caused me serious anxiety, was effectually organised by Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel Colley, 2nd Queen's Regiment. He was assisted by twenty - two Special Service Officers, and six officers of the Control Department. It was a happy circumstance that placed at my disposal the services of an officer of such well-known ability as Lieutenant-Colonel Colley. His great talent for organisation soon placed the transport upon a satisfactory footing. To him I confided sole charge of the line of communications. In a war like this it is absolutely necessary that the officer in command of the transport should also have charge of the line of communications. It was, therefore, necessary that these two most important duties should be discharged by a combatant officer.

Among the officers of the Control Department, all of whom have worked with much energy, I would wish especially to mention Commissary O'Connor and Deputy-Commissary Ravenscroft.

Throughout the second phase of the war I have received every possible assistance from Commodore Hewett, V.C., commanding the squadron on the African Station, who accompanied me on the march to Coomassie. I have had to make incessant calls upon him for naval services, and in every instance my requests have been complied with. He kindly placed at my disposal a naval brigade, consisting of 17 officers and 265 selected men, whose services have been of the greatest value, and who all have fought throughout the campaign with the dashing courage for which Her Majesty's Seamen and Marines are so celebrated. When my transport difficulties were greatest, Commodore Hewett helped me most materially by supplying Kroomen to act as carriers, and he allowed no regulations to stand in the way of his exertions to secure the ultimate success of this war, in which he and those under his command have played a prominent part.

Captain Rait has been the Officer commanding the Royal Artillery throughout both phases of this war. He organized a Houssa battery in a most able manner. The officers, English non-commissioned officers, and gunners attached to it worked indefatigably. In all the actions and skirmishes the gun and rocket fire has been most effective, notwithstanding the difficulties of the ground on which we fought. I consider Captain Rait to be one of the best soldiers I have ever served with.

In this force, where every white man has had hard work, and where especially previous to the arrival of the English troops, all the selected officers that I brought out with me, were untiring in their exertions, Major Home, the Commanding Royal Engineer, has had his full share of hard work, and most admirably has he performed it. Hutting the troops, constructing fortified posts, making a road practicable for all arms up to within a few hundred yards of the position where the enemy fought their first battle in their own territory, bridging the River Prah, an obstacle of considerable magnitude, and subsequently the River Ordah also, besides a large number of smaller streams and rivers—the Royal Engineers, under Major Home, R.E., have worked with the zeal for which their corps has always been conspicuous, and I cannot sufficiently thank him for the manner in which he has carried out the numerous and arduous duties that have devolved upon him.

Brigadier-General Sir Archibald Alison, Bart., C.B., commanding the European Brigade, has rendered me every possible assistance, and has carried out his orders to my entire satisfaction. He has brought to my notice the valuable assistance he has received from his Brigade-Major, Captain Robinson, Rifle Brigade, and his Aides-de-Camp, Captain Russell, 12th Lancers, and Lieutenant Fitzgerald, Rifle Brigade.

Colonel M'Leod, C.B., 42nd Highlanders, commanded the advanced guard during the march from the Adansi Hills to Coomassie, conducting his operations with cool gallantry in the most skilful manner. The forcing of all positions occupied by the enemy in our front devolved upon him, and I consider myself most fortunate in having had so able an officer to select for that very trying duty.

Colonel M'Leod has brought specially to my notice the names of his Acting Staff Officers, Captain Farquharson, V.C., and Lieutenant Wauchope, both of the 42nd Highlanders, the latter of whom was, I regret to say, twice wounded.

The Officers commanding English Corps were Captain Grubbe, R.N.; Lieutenant-Colonel Mostyn, 2nd Battalion 23rd Royal Welsh Fusiliers; Major Macpherson, 42nd Highlanders, and, subsequently, when that officer was wounded, Major Scott, of the same Regiment ; and Lieutenant - Colonel Warren, 2nd Battalion, Rifle Brigade, to all of whom my best thanks are due.

The two Native Regiments raised on the coast were commanded throughout the war by Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel H. E. Wood, V.C., 90th Light Infantry, and by Brevet Major B. C. Russell, 13th Hussars. Both these Officers have upon many occasions been placed in very difficult positions, requiring the exercise of high military qualities, and have invariably carried out their very arduous and trying duties most efficiently. I take the liberty of bringing to your especial notice, as those upon whom the brunt of this war has fallen, these and the other combatant officers named below who originally came out with me, or followed by the first mail steamer.

Agemmum,

February 7, 1874.

SIR,

ON the 5th instant I had the honour to address you from Coomassie, and to inform you that if the King refused to come in, I should destroy his capital. I now regret to have to report that all my efforts to induce him to come himself, or send a prince of the royal blood to treat with me, failed; and that the King only continued that policy of falsehood and deception which have marked all his dealings with me. Messengers who arrived throughout the 5th were abusing the liberty which I allowed them, by carrying off arms and ammunition from the town; and on the evening of that day I decided upon withdrawing my troops, and destroying Coomassie.

My decision to withdraw immediately was strengthened by the fact that tornados appeared to have set in, and that the passage of the rivers in my rear might be rendered more difficult by delay.

I had in the morning sent off all the wounded who were unable to march under escort of Wood's and Russell's Regiment, and a Company of the Rifle Brigade, and I now issued orders for an advance, on the morning of the 6th, of all the remaining troops beyond Coomassie, the dispositions being such, that on the facing about of the column, all would be in order for the homeward march. Prize agents were appointed, and the most valuable articles left in the Palace packed up, the King having, evidently, removed or concealed his treasure. A party of the Royal Engineers was engaged during the night mining the Palace.

Early on the 6th our homeward movements commenced, headed by the Naval Brigade, and covered by a rear guard of the 42nd Highlanders, which did not retire till the town had been set on fire in every quarter, and the mines in the palace fired. A tornado had raged during the previous day and night, but the destruction of the town by fire was complete.

In the despatch which I addressed to you on the 13th October last, asking for English troops to be sent out to enable me to accomplish my mission, I stated that that mission—to ensure a lasting peace with the Ashanti kingdom—could only be fulfilled in one way, by defeating the Ashanti army, by pursuing it, if necessary, to the capital of the Ashanti kingdom, and by so showing to the King and all those Chiefs who urged him on to war, that the arm of Her Majesty is powerful to punish her enemies even in the very heart of their own country.

That mission I conceive I have now fulfilled by the aid of the troops which Her Majesty's Government confided to me for its accomplishment. Yet I can truly state that no means were left untried by me to bring about a peaceable solution of the campaign. Up to the last hour I left the King's palace untouched, in hopes that he would return. The troops refrained with the most admirable self-control from spoliation or plunder; and they left the capital of this kingdom, so famed for its gold, without carrying away as plunder one article of value.

All the troops have now reached or passed this point. The return march was not made without difficulty. The streams and rivers had become so swollen from the effect of the tornados of the last few days, that the shallow swamps had become waist deep, and the water in the River Ordah had yesterday submerged the bridge constructed on the night of the 3rd instant, and was still rising when the troops passed the river. But the convoys were all taken over in safety, and the men of the Rifle Brigade and 42nd Regiment, before whose arrival the bridge had commenced to give way, undressed, passed their clothes over the heads of natives, and themselves forded the stream, in one part fully five feet deep.

I shall continue my homeward march to-morrow by as rapid stages as the nature of the country will allow and with every military precaution.

I have, &c.,

Major-General.

SIR, Agemmum, February 7, 1874.

IN my despatch of this day's date, I have given you the latest information as to the movements of the column under my immediate command.

As regards the three other columns last mentioned in my despatch of the 30th ultimo, I have the honour to inform you that I have no news of Captain Glover since that date. All Captain Butler's force of Akims deserted him without warning or reason, and he has returned south of the River Prah; while Captain Moore has arrived in this camp, stating that Captain Dalrymple has utterly failed to induce any men to cross the Ashanti frontier, and is himself on the road to my Head Quarters.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) G. J. WOLSELEY,
Major-General.

The Secretary of State for War,
War Office.*

Camp, Amoaful,
February 8, 1874.

SIR,

I HAD scarcely sent off my despatches yesterday when Captain Butler, half-pay, 69th Regiment, arrived in my camp, and as his mission to the Western Akims is now completely closed, I feel it my duty to bring at once to your notice the admirable manner in which he has conducted a most trying and difficult task.

That Captain Butler failed in his effort to lead a force of Akims to Coomassie is not his fault, but is solely due to the ineradicable cowardice and sloth of the people with whom he had to deal. In the face of great difficulties he succeeded in raising a force of Akims and leading them across the Prah. Although they deserted him at the very time when a junction with me was within their reach, these troops did, by their partial advance, effect that diversion which was the object of Captain Butler's labours, drawing off from opposition to the column under my immediate command the whole fighting force of Kokofoo, one of the six great tributary principalities of the Ashanti Kingdom.

The high opinion of Captain Butler, which caused me to give him an independent command, is strengthened by his conduct in this war ; and I beg to recommend him especially to your notice as an officer of great ability, of remarkably ready resources, and of untiring powers of action.

Captain Dalrymple, 88th Foot, has also worked indefatigably under most disheartening conditions. He too has been vanquished by the vis inertiae of the people amongst whom his task lay. But he, like Captain Butler, has rendered me real service, for the Becquah fighting men were drawn off to meet an attack from the Wassaw frontier, which Captain Dalrymple's movements led them to expect. I beg to recommend Captain Dalrymple to your favourable notice.

I have to-day received further despatches from Captain Glover. He writes last from Odumassie, on the 28th ultimo, being then one march advanced from Obogo, whence he dated on the 17th ultimo, and about 20 miles, according to his estimate, from Juabin or Coomassie. Copies of his despatches are sent to the Secretary of State for the Colonies. He had with him all his Houssas and Yorubas, and 700 Akims, and was expecting immediate reinforcements of Aquapims and Croboes. I have sent him orders to fall back behind the River Prah, and though I regret that he is not likely, owing to difficulties of communication, to receive these instructions for some time, he should meanwhile, with the force at his command, be quite able to hold his own against very superior numbers of the enemy. I reserve further remarks till Captain Glover's mission is concluded.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) G. J. WOLSELEY,
Major-General.

Colonial Office, March 7, 1874.

THE following Despatches were received at the Colonial Office this morning from Sir Garnet Wolseley :—

No. 1.

Sir G. Wolseley to the Earl of Kimberley.

Camp Agiamun,

February 7, 1874.

MY LORD,

I HAVE the honour to report that immediately after the despatch from this station of my last letter on the 3rd instant, I forwarded a flying column, taking with me five days' provisions, and marched upon Coomassie. The enemy's resistance on the 3rd was considerable, very large numbers being in our front. I halted on the River Ordah.

During the course of the day's march I received from the King a letter, of which I inclose a copy, with a letter from Mr. Dawson also inclosed, and returned at once the inclosed reply.

On the 4th I advanced again at daybreak. The enemy had occupied a position of considerable strength near the village of Ordasu. This they held against us from about seven till a quarter to two, when they yielded, and on my advance-guard, under Colonel McLeod, being pushed on against them, broke and fled in all directions, leaving behind, strewed along the road, the Chief's umbrellas and chairs, &c., and the food which had been carried with the army.

In the course of this day's march I received from Mr. Dawson two letters, of which I enclose copies. I ordered that the troops should be pushed on at once. No opposition was offered to our entry into the town.

We occupied the town. Mr Dawson was met, at full liberty, walking in the streets.

I immediately issued stringent orders for the protection of the inhabitants and the safety of the town. But night fell almost immediately after our entry, and in the darkness it was impossible to prevent some of the numerous camp followers from pillaging. The Fantee prisoners had also been released, and, in all probability, were largely engaged in the same pursuit. The result was the outbreak of many fires. Captain Baker, Inspector-General of the Police, and several officers, were engaged nearly all night in the suppression of the pillaging and in putting out the fires. One policeman taken in the act was hung.

I endeavoured immediately on my arrival to communicate with the King through Mr. Dawson, and through every channel that appeared to offer an opportunity. A Chief having come into Coomassie who was said to be sent by the King, I saw him myself, and impressed upon him my wish to spare the town, and my desire to impose on the King no severer conditions than those he had already accepted.

Moreover, I told this man that, now that I had shown the power of England, I was ready, if the King would make peace at once, to accept a small indemnity, and not to exact the half I had previously required to be paid in ready money.

Other messengers were obtained who undertook to reach the King. To these I entrusted the letter dated Coomassie, 5th February, 1874.

All was, however, of no avail.

The men whom I endeavoured to employ as messengers, and who came avowedly as envoys of the King, were found treacherously removing powder and gold dust from the houses.

The whole scheme of Ashantee politics is so based upon treachery, that the King does not either understand any other form of negotiation, or believe it possible that others can have honest intentions.

Under these circumstances, my Lord, it became clear that a Treaty would be as valueless to us as it was difficult to obtain.

Nothing remained but to leave such a mark of our power to punish as should deter from future aggression a nation whom Treaties do not bind.

I had done all I could to avoid the necessity, but it was forced upon me. I gave orders for the destruction of the palace and the burning of the city ; I had at one time also contemplated on the destruction of the Bantoma, where the sacred ashes of former Kings are entombed, but this would have involved a delay of some hours. Very heavy rain had fallen. I feared that the streams might have risen in my rear sufficiently to seriously delay my march. I considered it better, therefore, not to risk further the health of the troops, the wet weather having already threatened seriously to affect it.

The demolition of the place was complete. From all that I can gather I believe that the result will be such a diminution in the prestige and military power of the Ashantee monarch as may result in the break-up of the kingdom altogether. This I had been anxious to avoid, because it seems impossible to foresee what power can take this nation's place among the feeble races of this coast. I certainly believe that your Lordship may be well convinced that no more utterly atrocious Government than that which has thus, perhaps, fallen ever existed on the face of the earth. Their capital was a charnel-house ; their religion a combination of cruelty and treachery ; their policy the natural outcome of their religion. I cannot think, that whatever may be the final fate of the people of this country, the absolute annihilation of such a rule, should it occur, would be a subject for unmixed regret.

In any case, my Lord, I believe that the main object of my expedition has been perfectly secured. The territories of the Gold Coast will not again be troubled by the warlike ambition of this restless Power. I may add that the flag of England from this moment will be received throughout Western Africa with respectful awe, a treatment which has been of late years by no means its invariable fate among the savage tribes of this region.

The troops are now on their march homewards, and will embark for England immediately on reaching Cape Coast.

As the mission entrusted to me has now, I may say, have been brought to an end, I avail myself of this opportunity for bringing to your Lordship's most favourable notice the valuable services rendered to me throughout the war by Lieutenant Maurice, R.A., my Private Secretary. I would also take the liberty of mentioning the name of Captain Lanyon, 2nd West India Regiment, who for some time performed the duties of Colonial Secretary, and whose knowledge of Colonial duties and regulations were of great service to me since my arrival in this country.

The police duties in connection with the recent military operations have been most effectively performed by Captain Baker, Inspector-General of Police. He has rendered the force under my command most valuable service, and his zeal and energy mark him out as peculiarly suited for the post he occupies.

My Aide-de-Camp, Lieutenant the Honourable H. L. Wood, 10th Hussars, who is the bearer of this despatch, I have the honour to recommend to your Lordship's favourable notice.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) G. J. WOLSELEY,
Major-General and Administrator,
Gold Coast.

MY GOOD FRIEND,

February 4, 1874.

I BEG to write this to acquaint your Excellency that I am willing to meet your Excellency's demands, but only your Excellency's very rapid movement puts me into confusion. Regarding the hostages and the money, if your Excellency would allow me, I beg that you will let us do it in the same as late Governor Maclean did. Because my old mother and brother are my both counsellors and helpers in every way. I acknowledge the wrong done by Ammankwatea, and he will surely be punished by making to pay the sum your Excellency demands. About the prisoners: fearing that some may be excited and hurt himself I have put them all in iron, and as soon as your Excellency stay to give the time I will send them all.

J. W. Dawson, your messenger, begs to add few words of his.

Your Excellency will to listen your humble servant's entreaty now to stay few days where your Excellency has reached with the forces, as our lives are now in danger. I was taken from iron to write this letter, and instead of being together we are placed in different places. I beg to say that they feel now the strong battle they have had, and the King now say he will withdraw his forces if your Excellency would promise to remain where you are to have the matters properly arranged. No doubt we will all be killed if your Excellency do not stay. I send now my cane-bearer instead of my servant.

The King is anxious to meet your demands, but he finds the money too heavy. He desires to hint your Excellency with his best respect.

We beg, &c.

SIR, Coomassie, February 3, 1874.

AFTER the first letter dictated by the King, his Chiefs have also begged me to beg of your Excellency to stop your forces where you have reached, and that they will see that every demand is attended to amicably. The prisoners will be sent directly this messenger returns with your Excellency's promise to stay them. I humbly beg your Excellency on my knees to let the forces stop, and everything will be settled. I see now they have bend to do what is right, and trust your Excellency will not fight them again, as they intend to withdraw the forces.

I am in haste, yours, &c.

P.S.—The Chiefs desire me to ask your Excellency to stop the Court, if your Excellency agree to stay and send my cane-bearer to take the prisoners directly. I pray your Excellency to stop the forces from fighting, if his troops do not bring it to your Excellency. The King says now that he will do your wishes.

KING, On the March, February 3, 1874.

YOU have deceived me so before that I cannot halt until the hostages are in my possession ; as time presses I will consent to accept for to-day your mother and Princee Mensah. Both shall be well treated by me.

You can trust my word. If you send them to me this evening I will halt my army this side of the River Ordah. Unless you send them at once, my army will march upon Coomassie.

I am, King, your true friend and well-wisher,

Inelosure 4 in No. 1.

SIR, Coomassie, February 4, 1874.

I FIND things have come to a crisis concerning the lives of us all here, that I am bound to run to your Honour to beg of you to plead with the Major-General for us all concerned.

Finding that my cane-bearer foolishly denied of the men, I mean the prisoners here, being put in irons ever since last Monday, and remaining in them to this day, I beg to be believed that I would not dare to write nonsense to the Major-General or my master. Both he, the cane-man, and I were taken out yesterday morning about 3 o'clock to write the letters which he brought, and I have been since left at liberty, but every one else, except my cook, whom I have got released this morning, and two other servants, is in iron, and as soon as the Ashantees are driven very close to Coomassie we all shall be killed. My boy Robert comes now, and your Honour will see the marks of the beating he has had. It is true the King was not at Coomassie, he had gone to see some great fetish of his, and his chief Procurator and Privy Counsellor thought some bad fellows would hurt us, or some of us might, through the excitement in the country, commit suicide; but this ought to be without beating. As this Chief could not find room for all in his house, he shared us to some of his Captains under him, and it is only those who were kept in his house escaped the being beaten. May I beg to ask your Honour to plead with the Major-General to defer his personal coming, which frightens the people so much, and appoint an officer of rank, if he could not spare your Honour, and then the Major-General might demand two or three of his (King's) principal captains; for instance, Essamuah Iukwauta, Busum-marengwira, and Prince and Captain Berrempa, instead of giving the mother and brother, Royal lineage which is against their superstitions to give for hostages. Then let him withdraw all his forces, and leave the path between entirely free for the time being in the hands of the Major-General, so that his forces are allowed no chance of doing any mischief.

Matters might be very well settled in this manner, and we may be saved, since the destruction of the whole blessed kingdom after we are killed would not bring us back.

I know now the Ashantees will yield to all the terms of the Major-General for peace, except the sending their Royal lineage out of the kingdom, which is against their superstitious notions, so much so that they would rather die or per'ish foolishly than doing it ; I would not care a button if they could do it without us

The Major-General might, after things being put straight in this manner, come for a day or two to see the King and then march to the coast.

The question about the money can be very soon arranged if the Governor, with security, allow them to pay it instalmently. On my knees I pray your honour to do all you can for us in this my petition.

As it regards Ashantee power now being broken is very evident ; they now beg me, which they have never done before, to do all I can to save them. The King himself sent his step-father to tell me that he now acknowledges the superiority of the white men, and crave pardon that he may be allowed to treat for peace.

I pray your Honour, therefore, to do all you can to pacify the Major-General to halt at the river, that the prisoners may be sent at once and have everything settled, as the distance is only about three hours within Coomassie. May the Lord aid you in your endeavourings, is the prayer of your Honour's humble and obedient servant, (Signed) JOS. DAWSON.

SIR, Coomassie, February 4, 1874.

FOR Heaven's sake I pray your Excellency to halt the forces for to-day and to-morrow. All the Ashantee forces are coming back home, and I think I will succeed in getting what I have written Captain Butler. If your Excellency do not halt, and do not hear from me about 12 to-morrow noon, then all is over with me.

KING, Coomassie, February 4, 1874.

YOU have deceived me, but I have kept my promise to you.

I am in Coomassie, and my only wish is to make a lasting peace with you. I have shown you the power of England, and now I will be merciful.

As you do not wish to give up your mother and Prince Mensah, send me some other hostages of rank, and I will make peace with you to-morrow on the terms originally agreed upon.

If either your Majesty, or your Royal mother, or Prince Mensah, will come to see me to-morrow morning early, I will treat you with all the honour due to your royal dignity, and allow you to return in safety. You can trust my word.

No. 2.

Sir G. Wolseley to the Earl of Kimberley.

Head Quarters, Camp, Agiamun,

MY LORD,

February 7, 1874.

I HAVE the honour to inclose a copy of a report just received from Captain Butler. Your Lordship will perceive that it represents the complete collapse of the expedition under his orders.

2. From Captain Glover I have received no report since that of the 17th from Opogo, the contents of which I forwarded to your Lordship from Fommanah, and which represented him as short of ammunition and awaiting its arrival, after the success which placed him in possession of the town.

From Captain Dalrymple I have received no official report, but I hear that the Chiefs under his orders have almost entirely deserted him.

Since the above was written, Captain Butler himself has arrived. I cannot express too strongly my sense of the efforts which he, and the officers under his orders, have made for the cause in hand. In so far as failure represents an additional trouble, which has to be undergone by a man of energy and resource, and an additional hardship from which he suffers, Captain Butler has had all the bitterness of it. He has failed to induce the miserable Chiefs of this district to do all that he, in his fine belief in native character fancied that he would be able to induce them to do. But so far as the interests of the expedition under my orders are concerned, Captain Butler has not failed, but most successfully achieved the very object which I had in view in detaching him for the work he so cheerfully and skilfully undertook. He has effected a most important diversion in favour of the main body, and has detained before him all the forces of one of the most powerful Ashantee Chiefs.

For any purpose for which energy, practical ability, high spirit, and much knowledge of character are required, I cannot too highly commend Captain Butler to your Lordship's attention. All these qualities have been, under the most trying circumstances, displayed by him upon the present occasion.

In speaking of Captain Dalrymple I must point out that his position has been in some respects a far more difficult one than ever Captain Butler's. Captain Butler is not only a man well known to the world at large, but I have on a previous occasion had opportunities myself for recognizing his ability. He was known personally to all those officers who were with me in Canada, and of whom many are here. Captain Dalrymple came as a perfect stranger to most of us. The difference is very considerable in the situation of two men each in positions of somewhat painful isolation. Under these most difficult circumstances, Captain Dalrymple has worked with a heartiness and energy which I cannot too highly commend.

Captain Glover's position before the world is so conspicuous, and your Lordship's knowledge of his ability is so complete, that I scarcely think it would be suitable for me to report upon him as if he were one of the Officers in any ordinary sense under my orders. In fact, since his military operations have been carried out under my orders, I have received but one report from him, and know nothing of what has been the history of his force.

I have, &c.

(Signed) G. J. WOLSELEY,
Major-General and Administrator,
Gold Coast.

Inclosure in No. 2.

SIR,

Tribee, February 2, 1874.

After the dispatch of my letter of the 29th and 30th ultimo, a rapid retreat commenced in the whole Akim force. So universal was the panic that during the greater portion of the night bodies of men continued to move south, and early on the morning of the 31st Yancoma was reached and left behind. No attempt was made on the part of the Kings to excuse or explain their gross treachery, and I could elicit nothing more tangible than that they were too far advanced into Ashantee territory, and that they must be cut off before assistance could reach them.

My belief is that the statements of a blind Ashantee prisoner taken at Nansuah, coupled with a verbal message sent by King Attah of East Akim, the purport of which I was not made aware of, did much to induce the disgraceful flight.

In the hasty postscript to my letter of the 30th ultimo I had only time to make you acquainted with the fact of the retreat.

No previous warning—no intimation whatever—had been given to me that it was the intention of the Kings and Chiefs to abandon Akina; indeed, up to the very moment that the retreat began I was moving through the camps, endeavouring to get the Akims to move to Dadiasso, en route to Amoaful, and I had actually engaged a party of hunters to proceed through the bush to the main line near the latter place. Yet, so complete was the flight, that within two hours, not a man was left in Akinee, and long before midnight every Akim was behind the Ennoou River, ten miles distant. All this without a reverse having taken place, and after a loss of only two killed and two wounded in the entire force.

I cannot express to you the feelings with which I beheld this total break up of the movement. Little by little, step by step, I had succeeded in leading these savages to within a very trifling distance of the point aimed at.

It is true that there were many indications of how utterly untrustworthy was the composition of the force under my command ; but, nevertheless, at Akina I naturally looked at the task as all but accomplished, and my junction with the main body at Amoaful, within a few miles of Coomassie, as only a question of some hours. Encumbered with baggage without carriers, save those given me by the Kings, and with three of my officers sick from actual fever or its recent presence, I dare not await at Akinee the chance of communication from the main body. I had to abandon the fruits of no little labour at the moment success seemed most assured.

The Kings, with about a quarter of the original force, are now encamped close to the Prah at Embronen ; they have refused to move to Prahsu. The remainder of the men are scattered or dispersed to their homes.

I will proceed to head-quarters with all speed, and afterwards be ready to undertake such punishment as the Major-General may determine to inflict upon the Akim Chiefs.

Captain Paget has had a relapse of fever. He proceeds with carriers to Prahsu.

I have, &c.

Sir G. Wolseley to the Earl of Kimberley.

*Head-Quarters, Camp Amoaful,*MY LORD, February 8, 1874.

I HAVE the honour to inclose copies of two reports which have just arrived from Captain Glover. Your Lordship will perceive that the last is dated January 28, eleven days ago, and that Captain Glover speaks of being then within 20 miles of Coomassie.

I am making every effort to send him news of our success, and orders to fall back behind the Prah. I have offered large rewards to messengers if they succeed in reaching him, and have sent to him by several different routes. In any case, in the utterly crushed state of the Ashantee forces, I have every hope that Captain Glover will be able to hold his own against any army they could bring against him, and, at the worst, he certainly will be able to secure his own retreat.

SIR,

Abogoo, January 21, 1874.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your Excellency's despatches dated 31st December, 1873, 8th January, 13th January, and your Excellency's communication of the 14th instant.

2. My entire force of Houssas and Yorubas, which are capable of being brought to the front, are now up as per state inclosed, and Mr. Ponsonby, R.N., joined head-quarters on 18th, and Dr. Rowe on afternoon of 19th instant.

3. Yesterday came up 23 boxes of Snider and 20 boxes of Enfield ammunition, 2 cases of rockets, and 1 trough.

4. This afternoon came in other loads, completing spare ammunition, 458 spare rounds Snider for 350 men, and 55 spare rounds Enfield for 500 men, one 7-pounder gun, and 15 charges for ditto, 4 troughs, and 72 rockets.

5. To-morrow I am expecting 2 boxes containing fuses, friction-tubes, slow-match, &c., 4 cases of shot for 7-pounder guns, 16 cases of shell (common), 5 cases double shell, 17-pounder gun, and 7 cases of charges for 7-pounders.

6. I regret to have to report that I received yesterday the news of the death of Dr. Paule, R.N., who died at Assoom of fever and jaundice, followed by dysentery, on the 19th instant. The loss of this Officer is very much regretted by the Officers of this Expedition, as well as by myself. His kindness and genial disposition had endeared him to all, and since the 27th ultimo, owing to the illness of Lieutenant Cameron, 19th Regiment, he had been in command of an advanced detachment of force until it reached Assoom on the 10th instant.

7. On the 19th instant came up the Chief of Assoom with 120 men. Yesterday the King of Eastern Akim came with 300 more, and to-day some 50 others have arrived.

8. On the 17th a broad road leading northwards was reconnoitred for three miles by Lieutenant Barnard, 19th Regiment, with 100 men, but was found to end in farms. On the 18th the same officer and force examined road to Conomo for three or four miles without seeing any one. Reconnaissances were pushed out five or six miles towards the villages of Bangsu and Ja-Ashi. On left flank and left rear nothing was seen, remainder of force being occupied in unroofing and loopholing houses and cutting patrol paths through forest around village.

9. To-day Captain Larcom, R.N., and Lieutenant Barnard, 19th Regiment, with 100 men, examined country 10 miles on left rear, burning two deserted villages, and King of East Akim drove out the enemy from Bangsu, a village 11 miles on left flank, which he burned, having four men wounded. To-morrow Lieutenant Barnard, in command of 160 Houssas and Yorubas, with Mr. Ponsonby, in charge of rocket party and 300 Akims, will occupy Bargens, and day after to-morrow move upon Jaashu for the purpose of dislodging the enemy from that place, and opening communication with Captain Butler, whose force cannot be more than four hours to the westward, in neighbourhood of Atcheyasswah.

10. Jaashi like this place is five hours' distant from Conomo, which will be occupied by force not later than 25th or 26th, and is three from Coomassie or Daubin. I calculate approximately the position of this place to be in latitude  $6^{\circ} 30' N.$  and  $57^{\circ} 30' W.$

Inclosure 2 in No. 3.

SIR,

January 28, 1874.

SINCE date of my last despatch to your Excellency of the 21st instant, Lieutenant Barnard, having with him Mr. Ponsonby, R.N., who was in charge of rocket troughs and 160 Houssas and Yorubas, with 200 Akims, occupied Bangsu and the next day drove out the enemy from Jaashu, ten miles south-west of this place ; casualties, nil. 25th, 200 Akims more despatched to attack a small village to left rear were repulsed ; loss of 2 killed and 4 wounded ; 20 Akims only being engaged, the rest retreating Akims reporting that from loudness of the guns they believed the village to be occupied by Cobrah Fuah's army (Western Akim), and requested Lieutenant Barnard some Houssas ; but fearing an attack from this place, which was known to be occupied by the enemy, Lieutenant Barnard sent only a bugler and 4 men with a red English flag. The men reported that the Akims could not be induced to proceed more than a mile, and on their return were only prevented from boling to Abogoo by a rocket being directed down the road to head them back. The next day Lieutenant Barnard was to have effected a junction with me at this place at 1 P.M., so was compelled to leave Assufoo. He left Jaashie at 10 A.M., but did not reach this place until 3.30 P.M., and carried it after fifteen minutes' firing.

Mr. Ponsonby was hit by a spent ball which caused him to fall, also two Houssas hit, one seriously. The enemy held the bush or border of the village for about five minutes until dislodged by two rockets, when they retreated in direction of Coomassie or Juabin.

In the meantime I had left Abogoo at 7 A.M., and forming junction with 100 men under Captain Sartorius, who had left the day previous and eneamped two and a-half hours in advance, I proceeded for Conomo, three miles due east of this place. It was quite dark when we arrived within a mile of this place, and I eneamped intending to attack at daybreak, but a reconnoissance made by the King of Eastern Akim and twenty men found it deserted, and it was immediately occupied by his force, about 400 men.

On the 27th I moved to this place, leaving Dr. Rowe and 200 Houssas and Yorubas with King of Akim to prevent Akim force from going off in a sudden panic. The King himself is brave, so is his General, and, perhaps, 100 out of 700 of the entire Akim force with me.

Captain Butler does not inform me of his line of march after crossing Prah, and the few Ashantee prisoners with me give no information. The slaves taken know nothing except the road from the farm they work on to the village in which they are taken. I cannot get the Akims to reconnoitre, so that unless Captain Sartorius should succeed in getting this despatch to Captain Butler, I do not know how I shall effect communication with your Excellency.

I am awaiting reinforcements of Aquapins with spare ammunition, also King of Crobo with a large force, all of whom are within three or four marches of not being in lat.  $6^{\circ} 38' N.$  and long.  $1\frac{1}{4} W.$  15 or 20 miles from Coomassie or Juabin.

From such information as I can gather, the enemy will oppose my crossing the river. Assoom six hours from this.

Excepting "Abogoo," every place occupied has been found swept of sheep and fowls, consequently my force has been living on yam and plaintains for the last seven days, and the officers have no preserved meat up of any description.

One of my messengers was robbed and flogged by some West India soldiers, consequently the Akims at Assoom refuse to convey letter, and I am too far in advance to influence them.

I shall endeavour to get duplicate of this and previous one of 21st instant, sent to your Excellency by route south of Prah.

Inclosed is a copy of Lieutenant Barnard's

(19th Regiment) report of attack and occupation of this place, Odumassie.

It is with much pleasure that I bring to the notice of your Excellency the conduct of Lieutenant Barnard, 19th Regiment, a most promising and indefatigable young officer. Captain Sartorius, in command of the advanced force which carried Abogoo, brought to my notice his gallant bearing on that occasion ; and he displayed great discretion and judgment while in command of the column which I found in possession of this place yesterday. I therefore hope your Excellency will remember Lieutenant Barnard's gallant conduct on this second occasion when this campaign is finished.

I take the opportunity of bringing to the notice of your Excellency the invaluable assistance which I have received from Captain Sartorius, 6th Bengal Cavalry. It was entirely owing to his indefatigable exertion and great personal influence that the Croboes and Aquapims were induced to move on the Volta, when they did, thereby showing the Accras and enabling me, with the assistance of Dr. Rowe on the seaboard, to cross a large force of 17,000 men over the Volta by 27th December, nor could any force have reached the Prah on 15th instant, but for the amount of pressure put upon the King and Chiefs of Eastern Akim by Captain Sartorius. I shall, on another occasion, bring this Officer's service more fully to the notice of your Excellency, trusting that you will forward them to the Secretary of State for India.

THE following Despatch and Enclosures have been received by the Secretary of the Admiralty from Commodore W. N. W. Hewett, V.C., Senior Naval Officer on the Gold Coast :—

Transmitting Reports of Movements of Naval Brigade, received from Captain W. Hunt Grubbe.

“Active,” at Cape Coast,

SIR,

February 7, 1874.

ADVERTING to my letter of the 2nd February, 1874, I have now the honour to forward for the information of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, copies of letters I have received from Captain W. Hunt Grubbe, detailing the movements of the Naval Brigade under his command during the three engagements at Bobo-assie, Amoaful, and Becquah, which have already been reported by me.

In continuation of my despatch above referred to, I request you will lay before the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty a further letter which has been addressed to me by Captain Grubbe, giving an account of the proceedings of the Naval Brigade at the engagement which took place on the 4th instant, during the crossing of the River Dah, and subsequent movements.

The European troops having captured and burnt Coorassie are now on their way back to Cape Coast.

I have much pleasure in informing the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty that the conduct of the Naval Brigade during the whole time it has been disembarked has been unexceptional, and, when in action the men have behaved with great coolness and courage.

I cannot pass by the zeal and energy displayed by Dr. Henry Fegan, Staff-Surgeon 2nd Class, of Her Majesty's ship "Active," in his arrangements for the care of the sick and wounded.

His kind attention to their wants has been unceasing, notwithstanding the great fatigue he must have often been suffering, during the trying time experienced since crossing the Prah, and I beg to call the attention of their Lordships to the paragraph in Captain Grubbe's letter, wherein he mentions the gallant conduct of this officer, who, while the rear guard (to which he was attached) was being attacked, succeeded in bringing in a wounded marine at great personal risk.

I enclose a list of casualties in the Naval Brigade during the engagement at the River Dah.

I have, &c.,
 (Signed) W. N. W. HEWETT,
 Commodore.

SIR,

IN compliance with orders received last night from Colonel M'Leod, C.B., covering the advanced guard, I this morning moved the Naval Brigade to take part in the reconnaissance of the village of Borborassie, situate about six miles S.W. by W. of Kiang Boassu, preceded by a company of Russell's Regiment, and supported by Head Quarters of 23rd Welsh Fusiliers, we started at 8.15 and, after traversing a very narrow bush path, arrived at this village at 10.40, the Brigade immediately coming into action with the Ashantis who were in considerable force under a general of some note.

The village was soon cleared, the Ashantis retreating into the bush, but not until Captain Nicholls had been killed, and two seamen of the brigade, and some men of Russell's regiment wounded. Fourteen prisoners, eight-and-twenty muskets with accoutrements, and thirteen kegs of powder, a chief's umbrella, &c., fell into our hands ; the muskets and powder were destroyed before leaving.

On our return to our camp, which we reached at 3.30 P.M., the 23rd Regiment formed the advanced guard, and a brisk fire was kept up between them and the Ashantis, who were blowing their horns and shouting in all directions. A guide was killed close to the head of their column. The rear was brought up by the Naval Brigade, and A Company, in charge of Lieutenant Pipon, of Her Majesty's ship "Active," was much harassed in rear and both flanks for upwards of an hour. The men behaved very steadily, killing a considerable number of the enemy, with loss to themselves of one seaman only, badly wounded.

Colonel McLeod expressed himself pleased with conduct of the Naval Brigade, and I have great pleasure in testifying to the good behaviour of the officers and men under somewhat trying circumstances. Dr. Fegan, as usual, was unremitting in his attention to sick and wounded.

I have the honour to enclose a list of the casualties to the Brigade. The loss of the enemy I should roughly estimate at fifty.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) W. HUNT GRUBBE,
Captain Commanding Naval Brigade.

To Commodore Hewett, V.C.

Report of Proceedings of Naval Brigade at the Attack on Amoaful on the 31st January.

Amoaful,

SIR, February 18, 1874.

IN compliance with orders, I moved the Naval Brigade yesterday morning from Ahquonknessie to Egginassie in two divisions, the left under the command of Acting Captain Luxmore, and the right, which I accompanied myself, under that of Lieutenant Noel, of Her Majesty's ship "Active."

At 8 A.M., Colonel M'Leod, C.B., who commanded the left rank, directed me to cut through the bush in a line parallel to the Coomassie road. A party of cutters, under Captain Buckle, R.E., assisting, we had cut about forty yards, when a heavy fire was opened by the enemy from the left, and Captain Buckle was mortally wounded. I then commenced cutting to the hill from which the fire came, and succeeded in clearing a space on the top and turning their flank. Major Russell's Regiment then came to our support, and leaving him to guard the flank, which still kept up a heavy fire, I recommenced, by Colonel M'Leod's orders, cutting in a northerly direction, and after about two hours we reached the main road. The same heavy fire was kept up the whole time, and the thickness of the bush was such that at no time during the day could I see our opponents. From 2 P.M. until 5, we lined the road in skirmishing order, occasionally replying to the fire of the Ashantis, who had closed in from the right flank, after the splendid rush of the 42nd had cleared the centre, and were endeavouring to gain the road to Bequoi. I have great pleasure in reporting that the Brigade behaved extremely well.

I enclose, with Captain Luxmoore's report, a list of our casualties.

At 6.15 I marched to Amoaful and billeted the men.

Our entire strength was 200 officers and men.

I have, &c..

(Signed) W. HUNT GRUBBE.

Report of proceedings of Left Wing of Naval Brigade attack on Amoaful.

SIR,

February 7, 1874.

I HAVE the honour to give you the following information relative to the proceedings of the wing of the Naval Brigade under my command on 31st January : The wing with the other troops on the right flank of attack, under command of Colonel Wood, V.C., having cut a short distance into the bush, the enemy opened a very heavy fire, which was replied to. Colonel Wood was wounded shortly after the action commenced, and the command of the right flank devolved upon myself.

We had to remain in this one place for some hours, the enemy continuing to pour in a very heavy fire. At last their fire becoming slack, the Engineers cut into the bush and the enemy retreated. I then passed into the main road, and thence I again cut into the bush, 300 yards east, and then due north, so as to reach Amoaful.

In doing this, we passed through a very large encampment, in which the fires were still burning and great quantities of provisions had been left. Having reached the road just below Amoaful, the Brigadier-General ordered me to go on to the village and billet the men.

I need hardly state that all the Officers and men did their duty thoroughly. Dr. Fisher was unremitting in his attention to the wounded. My best thanks are due to Lieutenant Bell, Royal Engineers, and his men, for the manner in which they carried out their dangerous work of bush-cutting under the fire from the enemy.

Detailing proceedings of Naval Brigade on 1st February, 1874, and destruction of Bequoi.

SIR,

February 7, 1874.

I HAVE the honour to give you the following information relative to the Naval Brigade under my command on this afternoon.

The brigade was under the orders of Colonel M'Leod.

We left Amoaful about 1 P.M., to attack the town of Becquay. A company being detached and proceeding in advance with Lord Gifford's scouts and part of Major Russell's Regiment.

The enemy's pickets were soon driven in, the scouts and A Company followed them quickly into the town, where the Ashantis opened fire from the houses. We then closed up and doubled in, and the enemy ran. The Brigade was then disposed around the town to repel any attack while it was being burnt. B Company, on the north entrance, was engaged for a short time, the enemy being in the bush close to. The destruction of the town being completed we returned to Amoaful.

I regret to say that our casualties were, one man killed, one wounded. Lord Gifford informed me that A Company advanced into the town most gallantly. The whole Brigade did their duty to my entire satisfaction.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) PERCY A. LUXMOORE,
Acting Captain.

Report of proceedings of the Royal Naval Brigade at the Battle of Dah.

SIR, Coomassie, February 3, 1874.

I HAVE the honour to report that yesterday the Naval Brigade were ordered to join the rear guard during the crossing of the River Dah and subsequent movements.

The Rifles, 42nd, and Native Levies were so obstinately opposed that it was not until 12.35 P.M. that the rear guard crossed. Our great object was to get the convoy of provisions and reserve ammunition into the village of Dahsu, held by the Rifles, but surrounded by the Ashantees, and we succeeded in doing this by 1.15, though heavily attacked. The Naval Brigade then relieved the Rifles, and for two hours held the village, whilst the Rifles followed the 42nd towards Coomassie. At 2.45 the Ashantees retreated, and at 3.30 we reached Coomassie without further opposition.

I beg to enclose a list of the casualties.

Though nothing could have exceeded the good behaviour of the Brigade, both officers and men, I must specially mention that of Doctor Henry Fegan, who, while the rear-guard was being attacked, succeeded in bringing in a wounded Marine at great personal risk.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) W. H. GRUBBE, Captain.

FROM THE
LONDON GAZETTE of MARCH 10, 1874.

Foreign Office, March 9, 1874.

HER Majesty's Ambassador at St. Petersburg has transmitted to the Foreign Office the following notice issued by the Russian Government, and published in the "Journal de St. Petersburg" of the  $\frac{5}{17}$ th February last, providing for the expulsion from that capital of individuals not having Passports, or who may be provided with Passports of which the term has expired :—

La "Gazette de Police de St. Pétersbourg" publie le règlement provisoire suivant sur l'expulsion de St. Pétersbourg des individus n'ayant pas de passeport ou ayant un passeport périmé,—qui a été sanctionné par S. M. l'Empereur le 4 janvier :

1°. Lorsqu'il est constaté qu'un individu habitant St. Pétersbourg n'a pas de papiers ou a un passeport périmé, la police s'assure de son identité, prend des informations sur son genre de vie, sa profession et sa conduite, et recherche s'il n'a pas d'antécédents judiciaires.

2°. Si de ces informations il ressort que l'individu sans passeport, reconnu non dangereux par son genre de vie, a pris les mesures en son pouvoir pour obtenir ou renouveler son passeport, mais n'a pas reçu ce passeport, et que ce document ne lui a pas été refusé par l'administration compétente, la police lui délivre un permis temporaire, dont le terme est fixé par le préfet de la ville, sans toutefois pouvoir excéder six mois.

3°. Lorsqu'à l'expiration du permis mentionné à l'article précédent le passeport n'a pas été reçu ou qu'avant ce terme on reçoive avis d'un refus de délivrance du passeport, la police a le droit d'agir conformément aux dispositions de l'art. 1220 du code de procédure criminelle.

4°. Quand les renseignements recueillis par la police constatent que l'individu sans passeport n'a pas pris les mesures nécessaires pour obtenir ou renouveler ses papiers, mais ne présente pas par sa conduite de motif suffisant pour que la prolongation de son séjour dans la capitale soit considérée comme nuisible, la police agit conformément à l'art. 1220 du code de procédure criminelle et oblige ensuite le contrevenant à demander un passeport, en se réglant à son égard sur les dispositions des art. 2 et 3 du présent règlement.

5°. Si des informations recueillies par la police il résulte que l'individu sans passeport n'a pas de moyens d'existence, qu'il ne travaille pas, et en général a une mauvaise conduite, et qu'il a été condamné pour crimes ou délits contre le gouvernement, l'ordre ou la propriété, la police, sans recourir à une action judiciaire, présente au préfet de St. Pétersbourg un rapport motivé demandant que cet individu soit expulsé de la capitale avec défense d'y résider. En l'absence de l'ensemble des conditions sus-énoncées, la police agit conformément au code de procédure criminelle.

7°. En prononçant l'expulsion et l'interdiction de séjour dans la capitale, le conseil détermine la durée de cette interdiction ainsi que le mode d'expulsion, en spécifiant s'il doit être abandonné à l'individu expulsé de quitter lui-même la ville dans un délai donné ou s'il faut recourir à des mesures coercitives ; dans ce dernier cas il indique les motifs de l'emploi de ces mesures. Le terme de l'expulsion de la capitale ne doit pas dépasser quatre ans ; les mesures coercitives d'expulsion doivent être conformes aux dispositions en vigueur à cet égard.

8°. La décision du conseil, sanctionnée par le préfet de St. Pétersbourg, est notifiée contre reçu à l'individu expulsé et communiqué pour mesures conformes à l'autorité dans le ressort de laquelle est placée l'institution de laquelle dépend la délivrance d'un passeport à cet individu.

9°. Le préfet de St. Petersbourg présente chaque mois au ministère de l'intérieur la liste des individus expulsés de la capitale aux termes des art. 5-8 du présent règlement, en exposant en face de chaque nom les motifs de l'expulsion.

Camp Quar-Man,

January, 30, 1874.

SIR,

IN compliance with the instructions received, I marched yesterday, with the force noted in the margin,* to reconnoitre the village of Borborassie, situated on our left flank, and said to contain a large body of the enemy under Essimanquatia, and other Ashanti chiefs.

Striking into the bush path at 8.15 A.M., we marched W.S.W., and at 11 A.M. arrived before the place, taking it quite by surprise. The Ashantis, driven out of the village by our advance, took to the bush on all sides; a party of them came back upon our left flank, and fired on the Naval Brigade. This attack was brushed away with a few rounds of ammunition.

The village was immediately in our possession, but not without loss on our side.

List of casualties enclosed.

Captain Nicol, commanding the Anamaboe Company of Russell's Regiment, was killed leading his men, with the devotion of a English gentleman, round the right flank of the village.

* 23rd R.W. Fusiliers, 1 Field Officer, 79 non commissioned Officers and men;—Naval Brigade, 14 Officers, 24 petty Officers and non-commissioned Officers, 195 men;—Rait's Artillery, 2 Rocket Detachments under Lieutenant Knox, R.A.;—Anamaboe Company, 1 European Officer, 57 men.

I estimate the killed of the enemy at 50.

Fifty-three Ashanti muskets were collected.

Twelve kegs of powder, and the umbrella of Essimanquatia were found in the village.

It seems this old chief ran away just before the attack, and so narrowly escaped capture.

The troops after their long march were halted in the village for one hour and refreshed themselves from their haversacks before commencing the return march. On our return the Blue-jackets formed the rear guard. Before quitting the village they broke up the arms which were taken, and blew up the powder.

As soon as ever the Ashantis, lying perdu in the bush, discovered that we had gone, they returned to the village with shouting and blowing of horns.

Presently a body of them came down upon the rear guard and opened fire; the Blue-jackets calmly faced about, and poured amongst them such a fire of Snider bullets as sufficed to rid us of their presence for the rest of the day.

The troops arrived at their camp at Kiang Boosau at 4 P.M.

The discipline and conduct of the Blue-jackets, under Captain Grubbe R.N., who formed the advance and afterwards the rear guard merited my special commendation.

Captain Wood, A.D.C. to the Major-General, accompanied me and did good service; after the loss of Captain Nicol, I placed him in command of the Anamaboos.

I would desire to acknowledge to the Major-General the valuable services rendered by my Staff Officer, Captain Farquharson, V.C., in carrying out all the staff arrangements, which he did to my complete satisfaction. Lieutenant Wauchope, 42nd, was with me throughout the day as my Orderly Officer. My thanks are also due to Lieutenant-Colonel Mostyn, 23rd Royal Welsh Fusiliers, who was present with the men of his regiment engaged.

I have, &c.,

Commanding 42nd Royal Highlanders.

SIR, Amoaful, February 1, 1874.

I HAVE the honour to report to you for the information of His Excellency the Major-General Commanding, that in compliance with instructions received from him, I this day proceeded in charge of the troops, as per margin,* to destroy the village of Becqua.

The force was divided into an advanced guard and main body. The advanced guard was under the command of Colonel M'Leod, C.B., 42nd Royal Highlanders, and consisted of the Naval Brigade, a gun and rocket troop, Rait's Artillery, Russell's Regiment, Lord Gifford's Guides, and a detachment of Major Home's Engineers. The main body, which I retained under my own direction, consisted of the 23rd Fusiliers and companies 42nd Highlanders.

I entrusted the entire arrangements for the attack on the village to Colonel M'Leod with the advanced guard, merely following myself with the main body in reserve.

Colonel M'Leod's arrangements met with my entire approbation, and the attack on and capture of the village was effected with his usual ability and vigour.

* Naval Brigade—Detachment of Rait's Artillery;—Detachment of Home's Engineers;—Detachment 23rd Royal Welsh Fusiliers;—5 Companies 42nd Highlanders;—Russell's Regiment;—Lord Gifford's Guides.

He executed it entirely with his own force, and I did not require to support him with any part of the reserve.

I enclose his despatch in which the full particulars are given.

When the village was fully in flames, I occupied the entrance and eastern portion of it with the Detachment 23rd and 3 Companies 42nd Highlanders. Through these I withdrew the whole of the advanced guard, except Rait's Artillery, which I retained.

When they were well clear of the village I filed off 23rd, Detachment Rait's Artillery, and 3 Companies 42nd.

The Ashantis in small numbers beginning to drop in to the village, and threatening to harass the rear guard, I kept a Company of the 42nd concealed behind some houses at an angle of the main street. When a considerable number of the enemy had entered and were crossing the street, I wheeled up the Company and dispersed them with a few volleys. I then withdrew quietly from the village, and my return to camp was entirely unmolested by the enemy.

My best thanks are due to Colonel M'Leod for the very able manner in which the capture and destruction of the village was executed.

In addition to the Officers mentioned in his despatch, I must mention the perfect satisfaction afforded to me by the way in which the dispositions for the evacuation of the village were carried out by Lieutenant-Colonel the Honourable S. Mostyn, Commanding 23rd Detachment, and Major Scott, 42nd Highlanders, who had the particular direction of the withdrawal of the rear guard.

My best thanks are still further due to Captain Robinson, my Brigade Major, Captain Russell, my Aide-de-Camp, and Lieutenant Fitzgerald, my extra Aide-de-Camp, for the indefatigable way in which they carried out the staff duties.

Colonel M'Leod encloses a list of the casualties in the expedition.

I have, &c.,

Commanding Forces.

CHIEF OF THE STAFF.

ON arrival at Ahkankuassie last night, I found convoy of 90 men ; they had been delayed by being fired on on the road, losing one carrier killed and three wounded.

On arrival here this morning I found this place warmly attacked on all sides ; the Ashantis had penetrated into the long, straggling village, which was not in a state of defence, and set it on fire ; we have now cleared the greater part of the village, preserving the Hospital and the Store enclosed. A good many slight casualties—Captain North severely wounded, a sailor dangerously, Captain Duncan slightly, many of the black troops and native levies slightly. Difficult to judge of the number of the Ashantis ; they attack on all sides, and occasional ones creep boldly into the village, but generally keep under cover of the thick bush, which in places comes close to the houses. The firing ceased about 1 P.M., but on a party going down for water an hour later they were hotly fired on. Post carrier in with an escort, fired upon, but without effect. I shall probably make a start to-night. No chance of moving any convoys from here just at present.

Lieutenant-Colonel.

FROM THE SUPPLEMENT

TO THE
LONDON GAZETTE of MARCH 17,
1874.

War Office, March 17, 1874.

A DESPATCH, of which the following is a copy, has been received from Major-General Sir Garnet J. Wolseley, K.C.M.G., C.B., Commanding the Troops on the Gold Coast :—

Camp, Fommanah,
February 13, 1874.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to inform you that on the 9th instant a messenger from the King of Ashanti arrived in my camp at Detchiasu, expressing the King's desire to make peace, and offering to accede to my terms. I sent him back with a message to the King, and said that I would await his answer here until the evening of the 12th instant. I therefore halted at this place on the 10th with the native troops only, sending on all the Europeans towards Cape Coast.

Last night the messenger returned, accompanied by a chief of Coomassie, deputed to me by the King, and bringing with him one thousand and forty ounces of gold, as an instalment of the indemnity I had demanded, and as proof of his desire to make peace. I have now sent back the messenger with the draft of a treaty of peace for the King's signature, and I anticipate that he will return to Cape Coast within fourteen days from this date. A copy of the proposed treaty is forwarded by this mail to the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

I have to-day also given an audience to Cobbina Obbin, the King of Adansi, who is desirous of leaving the Ashanti territory, and retiring southwards with his people to live near the Denkeras and Wassaws in the old Denkerah bush. I have offered no opposition to his doing so, at the same time informing him that he must make his own arrangements with the Wassaws and Denkeras, and must look for no protection from the English Government.

Yesterday Captain Sartorius, 6th Bengal Cavalry, arrived in my camp with an escort of twenty men. He had left Captain Glover at Essiemampon, about eighteen miles east of Coomassie, and had travelled through Coomassie to Fowmanah. He informs me that Captain Glover had a skirmish with the enemy on the Ennoon River, on the 2nd instant, and had since halted for instructions from me. I have now sent to order Captain Glover to withdraw all his troops immediately behind the River Prah, and march to Accra as soon as possible.

The success which has attended my military mission is, I respectfully submit, satisfactorily proved by the above facts. Our success does not lie merely in our having defeated the enemy's army, and occupied and destroyed his capital, but in our having thoroughly established in this kingdom a wholesome fear of the British power, and a knowledge of the advantages of an alliance with Her Majesty. Three days after we have destroyed his capital and his palace, and commenced our homeward march, the King sends to make peace, and gives a substantial guarantee of his good faith. Five days after the same event, an English officer, accompanied by only twenty men, is able to ride unmolested fifty-five miles through the heart of the invaded kingdom, while one of the principal tributary chiefs beseeches permission to dis sever himself from Ashanti, and cast in his lot with the tribes allied to the British Crown. I venture, therefore, to hope that the objects for which Her Majesty's Government entrusted to me a force of British soldiers have been attained, and that the exertions of the officers and men under my command have not been made in vain.

The European troops are to-day at Barraco, Prahsu, and Essiaman. To-morrow the last detachment of them recrosses the Prah. They will be embarked as soon as possible at Cape Coast, and will sail without an hour's delay to England.

I leave this place to-morrow with my Staff and a rear guard of native troops; and I hope to arrive at Cape Coast on the 19th inst.

I have, &c.,

G. J. WOLSELEY,

Major-General.

The Right Honourable

The Secretary of State for War, War Office, London.

Colonial Office, March 17, 1874.

DESPATCHES, of which the following are copies, have been received at the Colonial Office from Major-General Sir Garnet J. Wolseley, K.C.M.G., C.B., Administrator of the Gold Coast.

No. 1.

Sir G. Wolseley to the Earl of Kimberley.

Head-Quarters, Camp, Fommanah,

MY LORD,

February 13, 1874.

I HAVE the honour to report that the King of Adansi has applied to me for permission to transfer his whole tribe to the Wassaw country, the Wassaws being willing to receive him and all his people. I told him that there was not land for him in the place he asked first to be allowed to enter, I assured him that I could give him no protection, that he must fight his own battles, and that I could guarantee nothing as to what course Her Majesty might think fit to pursue in the future.

2. But when he declared that he feared the vengeance of the King of Ashantee if he remained here after he had negotiated with me, and when he declared that he and all his people detested the Ashantee rule and were anxious to escape anywhere from it, I did not think I should be justified in interfering with an arrangement which will, at all events, have the advantage that it will to some further extent render the Ashantees less able to invade the Fantee territory.

3. I feared lest, if I refused, I should be simply handing over the Adansi people to massacre.

4. I have, therefore, allowed the King to migrate, as he proposes, but on the express understanding that it is an arrangement between himself and the Wassaw people, with which Her Majesty does not interfere.

5. The whole subject has caused me very great embarrassment. I have been influenced in the decision I have arrived at by the consideration that the Adansi people, who formerly formed a part of the same tribe as the Wassaws, are now only imitating the example which was set them some years ago by that portion which now passes under the Wassaw name ; and, moreover, before the question had to be decided by me the Adansi and Wassaw people had arranged the matter together, and I should have had to exercise an authority I did not feel myself altogether entitled to employ in forbidding a tribe always so vaguely under our influence as the Wassaws, to enter into such an arrangement calculated, as it is, to contribute to their national safety. Moreover, at the time the application was first made to me, the King of Ashantee had not given any trustworthy indications of a wish for peace. To refuse, therefore, an important occasion of strength would have been, on military grounds, an action scarcely defensible.

6. I very much regret that the point should have arisen at all, because it seems to me surrounded with difficulty. But under the conditions of time and place at which I had to decide, I do not think I could have arrived at any other solution.

7. I hear that the powerful Becqua tribe is anxious to follow the example of the Adansi ; but I intend, now that the preliminary negotiations as to the Treaty have been completed, to evade, at least for a time, their embarrassing questions by returning to the coast.

I have, &c.

(Signed) G. J. WOLSELEY,
Major-General and Administrator,
Gold Coast.

No. 2.

Sir G. Wolseley to the Earl of Kimberley.

Head-Quarters, Camp, Fommanah,

MY LORD,

February 13, 1874.

I HAVE the honour to report the arrival in this camp of Captain Sartorius with a letter from Captain Glover of which I enclose a copy. Captain Sartorius left Captain Glover's forces eighteen miles to the eastward of Coomassie. He took with him only twenty armed men and had no occasion to fire a shot during the entire journey, though he rode through Coomassie and followed the road by which we returned.

2. This is the most striking illustration I have yet received of the effect that our recent victories have had upon the Ashantee Kingdom.

3. Your Lordship will see that Captain Glover fancied that he was only seven miles from Coomassie at the time he wrote.

4. From Captain Sartorius' report, it appears that Captain Glover spent ten days at Abogo, after the capture of that village, waiting for stores ; that he then advanced to Conomanga, and thence to Adomassie, where he appears to have halted his main body until he, on the 8th instant, received intelligence of the capture of Coomassie. Then advancing for two days he dispatched Captain Sartorius on the 10th. I have sent Captain Glover a letter in French, informing him of what has taken place.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) G. J. WOLSELEY,

Major-General and Administrator,
Gold Coast.

Inclosure in No. 2.

Essiemampon,

SIR,

February 10, 1874, 12.30 P.M.

I HAVE the honour to report my arrival at this place with 700 Houssas and Yorubas, three 7-pounder guns, three rocket troughs, 204 spare rounds ammunition per man. Last engagement with enemy was on 2nd instant, when they were driven from line of Amoon River. King of Duabin has sent in his submission. I sent his messenger back ordering King to go to your Excellency at Coomassie.

I have with me some 1,600 allies and 5,000 over River Prah coming up ; I suppose myself to be seven miles from Coomassie, and shall halt at Atrirea, the next village, until I receive orders from your Excellency.

My men have had only one ounce of salt meat per man since 18th January, and that once, four days since.

Captain Sartorius, 6th Bengal Cavalry, who takes this has done excellent and hard service.

I have, &amp;c.,

(Signed) J. H. GLOVER, R.N.

Major-General Sir G. Wolseley, C.B., K.C.M.G., &c., &c.

No. 3.

Sir G. Wolseley to the Earl of Kimberley.

Head Quarters, Camp, Fommanah,

MY LORD,

February 13, 1874.

I HAVE the honour to report that, on the 9th instant, at Detchiasu, I received from the King of Ashantee a fresh messenger, who assured me that the King was most anxious now to accede to all my terms and to make peace.

2. I told him at once that I was quite as desirous of peace myself, and that as the Ashantee Kingdom had been already so severely punished I would waive the question of the hostages, who were no longer necessary, and if the King would send to me 5,000 ozs. of gold dust, as an earnest of his sincerity and as a first instalment of the indemnity, I should be willing to arrange the terms of a Treaty of Peace with any envoy of sufficient authority whom the King would send to Fommanah, where I would wait till the evening of the 12th, to allow sufficient time for him to communicate with the King, and collect the money.

3. Last night I was informed that Envoys from the King had arrived at a point about two miles from my outposts, and that they desired permission to treat with me, saying at the same time that they would not have come had they not fulfilled all the conditions I had demanded.

4. This morning I received the messengers here, but found that they had only brought with them 1,000 ounces of gold. They declared, however, that the King could not at the moment produce more, that 1,000 ounces was more than had ever been demanded of them before, Governor M'Clean having only required them to deposit 600 ounces as a temporary security, to be subsequently given back to them. I thought it exceedingly probable that additional pressure might have induced them to produce the larger sum ; but I considered that the main point was to obtain the Treaty of Peace, and that the money being important chiefly as a proof of complete submission, the quantity actually now paid was a matter of comparatively secondary importance.

5. I therefore allowed the Envoys to go into the question of the Treaty, the nature of which was carefully explained to them. They made objection to two clauses only.

6. First they professed not to have understood that the sum of money demanded was so large as 50,000 ozs. When, however, I informed them that the King had already expressly agreed to this sum, they withdrew the objection. I fancy that it is very doubtful whether the whole of the money will ever be obtained by Her Majesty's Government; but as the payment of a few thousand pounds cannot be a matter of relatively so great importance as the maintenance of peace, I have caused the wording of this cause to be carefully so framed, so as to make it clear that the money is only to be paid in such instalments, and at such times, as Her Majesty may direct. The whole question of the money will thus be open for solution in any way Her Majesty's Government may think fit.

7. The second point to which objection was raised is one which has caused me much more anxiety. As I have already explained in my despatch of this same date, I have not felt myself justified in refusing absolutely to allow the King of Adansi and his people, on their earnest petition, to join with the Wassaw people and occupy their lands together.

8. I considered, therefore, that it was indispensable, in order to avoid future trouble, that the King of Ashantee should distinctly acknowledge the independence of the Adansi people.

9. I carefully explained to the Envoys at the same time, that I had taken no steps whatever myself in this matter, that the action on the part of the Adansi people was purely voluntary, and that it was one with which it was impossible for me to interfere.

10. It has been agreed that within a fortnight the King shall send to Cape Coast the Treaty signed by himself. I incline to believe that the danger of breaking up to which his kingdom is exposed, unless we are on friendly terms with him, will induce him to fulfil, with as much punctuality as he is capable of, the conditions of the Treaty.

11. For not only have the Adansi people begged to be allowed to migrate, but I have heard through the King of Adansi that the much more powerful Becwa tribe is quite as anxious to do the same, and only awaits my decision on the case of the King of Adansi, before declaring its intention to join some tribe nearer the Coast.

12. These and other indications that only very slight action on our part is required to cause the complete dissolution of his kingdom, will, I believe, be for the fulfilment of the engagements he has now entered into, better securities than any others we could have.

I have, &c.

Inclosure in No. 3.

TREATY of Peace between Major-General Sir Garnet Joseph Wolseley, K.C.M.G., C.B., acting on behalf of Her Majesty Victoria, Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, and Saibee Enquie, acting on behalf of His Majesty Koffee Kalkalli, King of Ashantee.

ART. 1. THERE shall be hereafter perpetual peace between the Queen of England and her allies on the coast on the one part, and the King of Ashantee and all his people on the other part.

ART. II.—The King of Ashantee promises to pay the sum of 50,000 ounces of approved gold as indemnity for the expenses he has occasioned to Her Majesty the Queen of England by the late war ; and undertakes to pay 1,000 ounces of gold forthwith, and the remainder by such instalments as Her Majesty's Government may from time to time demand.

ART. III.—The King of Ashantee, on the part of himself and his successors, renounces all right or title to any tribute or homage from the Kings of Denkera, Assin, Akim, Adansi, and the other allies of Her Majesty formerly subject to the Kingdom of Ashantee.

ART. IV.—The King, on the part of himself and of his heirs and successors, does hereby further renounce for ever all pretensions of supremacy over Elmina, or over any of the tribes formerly connected with the Dutch Government, and to any tribute or homage from such tribes, as well as to any payment or acknowledgment of any kind by the British Government in respect of Elmina or any other of the British forts and possessions on the coast.

ART. V.—The King will at once withdraw all his troops from Appolonia and its vicinity, and from the neighbourhood of Dixcove, Secondee, and the adjoining coast-line.

ART. VI.—There shall be freedom of trade between Ashantee and Her Majesty's forts on the coast, all persons being at liberty to carry their merchandize from the coast to Coomassie, or from that place to any of Her Majesty's possessions on the coast.

ART. VII.—The King of Ashantee guarantees that the road from Coomassie to the River Prah shall always be kept open and free from bush to a width of 15 feet.

ART. VIII.—As Her Majesty's subjects and the people of Ashantee are henceforth to be friends for ever, the King, in order to prove the sincerity of his friendship for Queen Victoria, promises to use his best endeavours to check the practice of human sacrifice, with a view to hereafter putting an end to it altogether, as the practice is repugnant to the feelings of all Christian nations.

ART. IX.—One copy of this Treaty shall be signed by the King of Ashantee and sent to the Administrator of Her Majesty's Government at Cape Coast Castle within fourteen days from this date.

ART. X.—This Treaty shall be known as the Treaty of Fommanah.

Dated at Fommanah this 13th day of February, 1874.

No. 4.

Sir G. Wolseley to the Earl of Kimberley.

Camp, Prahsu,

MY LORD, February 15, 1874.

I HAVE the honour to report that, as the war with the King of Ashantee has now been brought to a satisfactory termination, I have not considered it necessary to maintain any longer the state of martial law, which has been in force in the town of Elmina and the surrounding districts since the 12th day of June, 1873.

By a Proclamation, therefore, dated 12th of February, 1874, published by my command, the state of martial law in Elmina and the surrounding districts has been declared at an end.

I have, &c.,

Major-General and Administrator,
Gold Coast.

FROM THE
LONDON GAZETTE of MARCH 20, 1874.

Her Majesty's Most Gracious Speech, delivered by the Lords Commissioners, to both Houses of Parliament, on Thursday, March 19, 1874.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I RECUR to your advice at the earliest period permitted by the arrangements consequent on the retirement of the late Administration.

My relations with all foreign Powers continue to be most friendly. I shall not fail to exercise the influence arising from these cordial relations for the maintenance of European peace, and the faithful observance of international obligations.

The marriage of my son, the Duke of Edinburgh, with the Grand Duchess Marie Alexandrowna of Russia, is at once a source of happiness to myself and a pledge of friendship between two great Empires.

The war with the King of Ashantee has terminated in the capture and destruction of his capital, and in negotiations which, I trust, may lead to a more satisfactory condition of affairs than has hitherto prevailed on the West Coast of Africa.

The courage, discipline, and endurance displayed by my forces, both of the land and sea service, together with the energy and skill evinced in the conduct of the expedition, have brilliantly maintained, under the most trying circumstances, the traditionary reputation of the British arms.

I deeply regret that the drought of last summer has affected the most populous provinces of my Indian Empire, and has produced extreme scarcity, in some parts amounting to actual famine, over an area inhabited by many millions. I have directed the Governor-General of India to spare no cost in striving to mitigate this terrible calamity.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

The estimates for the expenditure of the coming financial year will be forthwith submitted to you.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

The delay and expense attending the transfer of land in England have long been felt to be a reproach to our system of law, and a serious obstacle to dealings in real property. This subject has, in former sessions, occupied the attention of Parliament, and I trust that the measures which will now be submitted for your consideration will be found calculated to remove much of the evil of which complaint has been made.

You will probably be of opinion that the re-arrangement of the Judicature, and the blending of the administration of law and equity, which were effected for England by the enactment of last session, ought, on the same principles, to be extended to Ireland, and you will be asked to devote some part of your time to the accomplishment of this object.

The greater part of these changes would be inapplicable to the tribunals of Scotland; but you will be invited, as to that part of my Kingdom, to consider the most satisfactory mode of bringing the procedure upon appeals into harmony with recent legislation, and, among other measures relating to her special interests, a Bill for amending the law relating to Land Rights and for facilitating the Transfer of Land will be laid before you.

Serious differences have arisen, and remonstrances been made by large classes of the community, as to the working of the recent Act of Parliament affecting the relationship of Master and Servant, of the Act of 1871, which deals with offences connected with trade, and of the law of conspiracy, more especially as connected with these offences. On these subjects I am desirous that, before attempting any fresh legislation, you should be in possession of all material facts, and of the precise questions in controversy, and for this purpose I have issued a Royal Commission to inquire into the state and working of the present law with a view to its early amendment, if it should be found necessary.

A Bill will be introduced dealing with such parts of the Acts regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors as have given rise to complaints which appear to deserve the interference of Parliament.

Your attention will also be directed to the laws affecting Friendly and Provident Societies.

All these matters will require your grave consideration, and I pray that the Almighty may guide your deliberations for the welfare of my realm.

At the Court at Windsor, the 17th day of
March, 1874.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament made and passed in the Session of Parliament holden in the thirty-third and thirty-fourth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for amending the Law relating to the Extradition of Criminals," it was amongst other things enacted, that where an arrangement has been made with any foreign State with respect to the surrender to such State of any fugitive criminals, Her Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that the said Act shall apply in the case of such foreign State ; and that Her Majesty may, by the same or any subsequent Order, limit the operation of the Order, and restrict the same to fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in the part of Her Majesty's dominions specified in the Order, and render the operation thereof subject to such conditions, exceptions, and qualifications as may be deemed expedient :

And whereas a Treaty was concluded on the third day of December last between Her Majesty and the Emperor of Austria, King of Bohemia, &c., &c., and Apostolic King of Hungary, for the Mutual Extradition of Fugitive Criminals, which Treaty is in the terms following :—

HER Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and His Majesty the Emperor of Austria, King of Bohemia, &c., &c., &c., and Apostolic King of Hungary. having judged it expedient, with a view to the better administration of justice, and to the prevention of crime within the two countries and their jurisdictions that persons charged with or convicted of the crimes hereinafter enumerated, and being fugitives from justice, should, under certain circumstances, be reciprocally delivered up ; Their said Majesties have named as their Plenipotentiaries to conclude a Treaty, for this purpose, that is to say :

Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, the Right Honourable

Sir Andrew Buchanan, a member of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Her Majesty's Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to His Imperial and Royal Apostolic Majesty :

And His Imperial and Royal Apostolic Majesty, the Count Julius Andrassy of Csik-Szent-Király and Kraszna Horka, His Imperial and Royal Majesty's Privy Councillor, Minister of the Imperial House and of Foreign Affairs, Grand Cross of the Order of St. Stephen, &c. :

Who, after having communicated to each other their respective full powers, found in good and due form, have agreed upon and concluded the following Articles :

ARTICLE I.

The High Contracting Parties engage to deliver up to each other those persons who, being accused or convicted of a crime committed in the territory of the one Party, shall be found within the territory of the other Party under the circumstances and conditions stated in the present Treaty.

ARTICLE II.

The crimes for which the extradition is to be granted are the following :—

1. Murder, or attempt to murder.
2. Manslaughter.
3. Counterfeiting or altering money, uttering or bringing into circulation counterfeit or altered money.
4. Forgery or counterfeiting, or altering or uttering what is forged or counterfeited or altered ; comprehending the crimes designated in the Austrian Penal Laws or in the Hungarian Penal Laws and Customs as counterfeiting or falsification of paper money, bank notes, or other securities, forgery or falsification of other public or private documents, likewise the uttering or bringing into circulation, or wilfully using such counterfeited, forged, or falsified papers.

The definition is to be determined accordingly with the Austrian Penal Laws if the extradition shall take place from Austria, and accordingly with the Hungarian Penal Laws and Customs if the extradition shall take place from Hungary.

5. Embezzlement or larceny.

6. Obtaining money or goods by false pretences.

7. Crimes against bankruptcy law: comprehending the crimes considered as frauds committed by the bankrupt in connection with the bankruptcy, according with the Austrian Penal Laws if the extradition shall take place from Austria, and with the Hungarian Penal Laws if the extradition shall take place from Hungary.

8. Fraud by a bailee, banker, agent, factor, trustee, or director or member or public officer of any company, made criminal by any law for the time being in force.

9. Rape.

10. Abduction.

11. Child stealing, kidnapping, and false imprisonment.

12. Burglary or housebreaking.

13. Arson.

14. Robbery with violence or with menaces.

15. Threats by letter or otherwise with intent to extort.

16. Sinking or destroying a vessel at sea, or attempting to do so.

17. Assaults on board a ship on the high seas, with intent to destroy life, or to do grievous bodily harm.

18. Revolt, or conspiracy to revolt, by two or more persons on board a ship on the high seas, against the authority of the master.

19. Perjury or subornation of perjury.

20. Malicious injury to property, if the offence be indictable.

The extradition is also to take place for participation in any of the aforesaid crimes, as accessory either before or after the fact, provided such participation be punishable by the laws of both the Contracting Parties.

In all these cases the extradition will only take place from the Austro-Hungarian States when the crimes, if committed in Austria, would, according to Austrian law, constitute a "Verbrechen," or, if committed in Hungary, would, according to the laws and customs being in force in Hungary, constitute a crime ("buntett"); the extradition from Great Britain only when the crimes, if committed in England, or within English jurisdiction, would constitute an extradition crime, as described in the Extradition Acts of 1870 and 1873.

ARTICLE III.

In no case and on no grounds whatever shall the High Contracting Parties be held to concede the extradition of their own subjects.

ARTICLE IV.

The extradition shall not take place if the person claimed on the part of the Government of the United Kingdom, or the person claimed on the part of the Government of Austria-Hungary, has already been tried and discharged or punished, or is still under trial, in the Austro-Hungarian dominions, or in the United Kingdom respectively, for the crime for which his extradition is demanded.

If the person claimed on the part of the Government of the United Kingdom, or if the person claimed on the part of the Government of Austria-Hungary, should be under examination for any other crime in the Austro-Hungarian dominions, or in the United Kingdom respectively, his extradition shall be deferred until the conclusion of the trial, and the full execution of any punishment awarded to him.

Should an individual whose extradition is demanded be at litigation, or be detained in the country on account of private obligations, his surrender shall nevertheless be made, the injured party retaining the right to prosecute his claims before the competent authority.

ARTICLE V.

The extradition shall not take place if, with respect to the crime for which it is demanded, and according to the laws of the country applied to, criminal prosecution and punishment has lapsed.

ARTICLE VI.

A fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered if the offence in respect of which his surrender is demanded is one of a political character, or if he prove that the requisition for his surrender has, in fact, been made with a view to try or punish him for an offence of a political character.

ARTICLE VII.

If an individual whose extradition is demanded by either of the High Contracting Parties, in accordance with the terms of this Treaty, be also claimed by one or several other Powers on account of other crimes committed on their territory, he shall be surrendered to the Government in whose territory his gravest crime was committed ; and if his crimes are all of the same gravity, or a doubt exists as to which is the gravest, to the Government which first made application for his surrender.

ARTICLE VIII.

A surrendered person shall in no case be kept in arrest or subjected to examination in the State to which he has been surrendered on account of another previous crime, or any other grounds than those of his surrender, unless such person has, after his surrender, had an opportunity of returning to the country whence he was surrendered, and has not made use of this opportunity, or unless he, after having returned there, reappears in the country to which he has already been surrendered.

This stipulation does not refer to crimes committed after surrender.

ARTICLE IX.

Requisitions for surrender shall be made by the Diplomatic Agents of the High Contracting Parties.

To the requisition for the surrender of an accused person there must be attached a warrant issued by the competent authorities of the State which demands extradition, and such proofs as would, according to the laws of the place where the accused was found, justify his arrest if the crime had been committed there.

If the requisition refers to a person already convicted, the sentence passed by the competent Tribunal of State demanding his surrender must be produced.

No requisition for surrender can be based on a conviction in contumaciam.

ARTICLE X.

If the requisition for extradition be in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the competent authorities of the State applied to shall proceed to the arrest of the fugitive.

The prisoner is then to be brought before a competent Magistrate, who is to examine him and to conduct the preliminary investigation of the case, just as if the apprehension had taken place for a crime committed in the same country.

ARTICLE XI.

A fugitive criminal may, however, in urgent cases be arrested under a warrant of a Police Magistrate, Judge of the Peace, or of any other competent authority in either country, on such information or complaint, or such evidence as would, in the opinion of the person issuing the warrant, justify the issue of a warrant if the crime had been committed or the prisoner convicted in the district in which the authority happens to be; provided, however, that he shall be discharged if, within the shortest time possible, and at the utmost within fourteen days, a requisition for his surrender in accordance with the terms of Article IX of this Treaty is not made by the Diplomatic Agent of the State which demands his extradition.

ARTICLE XII.

The extradition shall not take place before the expiration of fifteen days from the apprehension, and then only if the evidence be found sufficient, according to the laws of the State applied to, either to justify the committal of the prisoner for trial, in case the crime had been committed in the territory of the said State, or to prove that the prisoner is the identical person convicted by the Courts of the State which makes the requisition.

ARTICLE XIII.

In the examinations which they have to make in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the authorities of the State applied to shall admit as entirely valid evidence the sworn depositions or statements of witnesses taken in the other State, or copies thereof, and likewise the warrants and sentences issued therein, provided such documents are signed or certified by a Judge, Magistrate, or Officer of such State, and are authenticated by the oath of some witness, or by being sealed with the official seal of the Minister of Justice, or some other Minister of State.

ARTICLE XIV.

If sufficient evidence for the extradition be not produced within two months from the date of the apprehension of the fugitive, he shall be set at liberty.

ARTICLE XV.

All articles seized, which were in the possession of the person to be surrendered at the time of his apprehension, shall, if the competent authority of the State applied to for extradition has ordered the delivery thereof, be given up when the extradition takes place; and this delivery shall extend not only to property of the accused, and to the stolen articles, but also to everything which may serve as a proof of the crime. If the extradition cannot be carried out in consequence of the flight or death of the individual who is claimed, the delivery of the above-mentioned objects shall take place nevertheless.

ARTICLE XVI.

Each of the Contracting Parties shall defray the expenses occasioned by the arrest within its territories, the detention, and the conveyance to its frontier, of the persons to be surrendered, in pursuance of this Treaty.

ARTICLE XVII.

The stipulations of the present Treaty shall be applicable to the Colonies and foreign possessions of Her Britannic Majesty.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of such Colonies or foreign possessions shall be made to the Governor or chief authority of such Colony or possession by the chief Consular Officer of Austria-Hungary in such Colony or possession.

Such requisitions may be disposed of, subject always, as nearly as may be, to the provisions of this Treaty, by the said Governor or chief authority, who, however, shall be at liberty either to grant the surrender, or to refer the matter to his Government.

Her Britannic Majesty shall, however, be at liberty to make special arrangements in the British Colonies and foreign possessions for the surrender of Austro-Hungarian criminals, who may take refuge within such Colonies and foreign possessions, on the basis as nearly as may be, of the provisions of the present Treaty.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal from any Colony or foreign possession of Her Britannic Majesty shall be governed by the rules laid down in the preceding Articles of the present Treaty.

ARTICLE XVIII.

The present Treaty shall come into force ten days after its publication, in conformity with the forms prescribed by the laws of the High Contracting Parties. It may be terminated by either of the High Contracting Parties, but shall remain in force for six months after notice has been given for its termination.

The Treaty shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Vienna as soon as possible.

In witness whereof, the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and have affixed thereto the seal of their arms.

Done at Vienna, the 3rd day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three.

And whereas the ratifications of the said Treaty were exchanged at Vienna on the tenth instant :

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to Her by the said recited Act, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the thirtieth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, the said Act shall apply in the case of the said Treaty with the Emperor of Austria.

FROM THE SUPPLEMENT

TO THE
LONDON GAZETTE of MARCH 20,
1874.

Admiralty, March 23, 1874.

THE following Despatches and Enclosures have been received by the Secretary of the Admiralty from Commodore W. N. W. Hewett, V.C., Senior Naval Officer on the Gold Coast :—

“Active,” at Cape Coast,
March 3, 1874.

SIR,
I HAVE the honour to forward for the information of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty a letter I have received from Captain J. H. Glover, R.N., Special Commissioner in the Volta, bringing to my notice the good services of Lieutenant George H. Moore (late "Druid") and Sub-Lieutenant Henry Ponsonby, belonging to Her Majesty's ship "Active," and Retired Sub-Lieutenant Henry H. Adamson late "Argus") while attached to the expeditionary force commanded by him in that river.

I have, &c.,
 (Signed) W. N. W. HEWETT,
 Commodore.

Fort Anamaboe,

February 25, 1874.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to forward for your information extracts from report furnished by me to His Excellency the Major-General, of Services of Officers* attached to the Volta Expeditionary Force, and to request that you will bring the services of the Officers named in margin to the notice of my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty.

I have, &c.,
 (Signed) JOHN H. GLOVER.
 Special Commissioner.

*To Captain Hewett, V.C., C.B.,
 Commodore Commanding
 Cape Coast.*

(Extracts.)

Lieutenant Moore, of Her Majesty's ship "Druid," joined the expedition as a volunteer, with the approval of his commanding officer, on the 1st October last.

---

* Lieutenant Moore, R.N., Sub - Lieutenant Ponsonby, Sub-Lieutenant Adamson.

For the first part of his service he rendered valuable assistance in piloting vessels over the bar of the Volta, in landing stores, and in command of "Lady of Lake" steamer in the river.

On the 2nd December he went to Blapah, and planned and cleared there the camp on the Volta, previous to the arrival of Captain Sartorius.

On the 25th December he had charge of the battery on the right bank of the river, covering the landing on the opposite shore, and subsequently of the "Lady of the Lake" steamer, and had a narrow escape from sunstroke due to his exertions in the heat.

When it was decided to leave the left bank of Volta on 27th, he was left as Commissioner with 3,000 Aquapims and Crobboes, and served with them with Deputy-Commissioner Goldsworthy up to 11th January, and successfully brought 1500 of these native levies across the Prah, to join me at Odumassie on the 6th of February. Since that date he has had command of the Yorubas, and has marched with them to this place.

During the whole of this time he has shown great energy and constant willingness to carry out any duties required of him, and deserves my thanks for the assistance he has afforded me.

Sub-Lieutenant Ponsonby, Her Majesty's ship "Active," joined us just before the crossing of the Volta, on the 24th and 25th December. His skilful firing was referred to in General Orders of that date.

He was left in charge of the steam launches on the Volta, and subsequently received orders to join Head Quarters, which he did at Chibbi, on 11th January.

He accompanied Lieutenant Barnard in charge of rockets to Jaarsie, and in his reports of attack on Odumassie, 26th January, Lieutenant Barnard remarks on "the splendid way in which the rockets cleared the bush." On this occasion he was struck by a spent slug on the knee, with such violence as to cause him to fall.

He was also with Lieutenant Barnard on the 2nd February, when the enemy were driven from the line of Annonu River.

He has since acted under Commander Larcom, in charge of artillery of the expedition, and on the return march has had charge of the loads and transport.

"Active," at Cape Coast,

SIR,

March 3, 1874.

THE operations against the Ashantees being now ended, it becomes my pleasing duty to bring to the notice of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, the highly satisfactory manner in which the Officers, seamen, and marines of the squadron under my orders have, on all occasions, carried out their duties during the trying time they have been employed on the Gold Coast.

All indeed have realized my highest expectations ; and in making special mention of any, who, under my own observation, especially distinguished themselves by their gallantry, zeal, or ability, I am anxious that their Lordships should not under-rate the value I set upon the services of those, who, lacking an opportunity, were not so fortunate as to render themselves conspicuous.

The manner in which Captain W. J. Hunt Grubbe, of Her Majesty's ship "Tamar," performed special duties which devolved upon him, throughout the period he commanded the Naval Brigade, is deserving of my warmest approbation, and I beg to call their Lordships special attention to the fact that, although severely wounded in the left hand at the battle of Amoaful, he would not relinquish his command until the campaign was finished.

The services of the Brigade itself are recorded in the enclosed letter from Captain Hunt Grubbe.

Of the Officers specially mentioned therein Lieutenant Gerard H. U. Noel, of Her Majesty's ship "Active" was landed on the 27th November, 1873, in charge of a party of fifty seamen and marines, who previous to the arrival of the European regiments were detailed to act as a guard to Sir Garnet Wolseley, on the occasion of his proceeding to the front to inspect the progress made in the construction of the road to the Prah.

Lieutenant A. B. Crosbie, Royal Marine Light Infantry, and Sub-Lieutenant Gerard R. Maltby, of Her Majesty's ship "Active," and Surgeon Henry T. Cox, of the "Amethyst," also landed with this party, and none of them rejoined their ships till the cessation of hostilities.

I regret to say that I have lost the services of Lieutenant Noel as Senior and Gunnery Lieutenant of this ship, he having been invalided for the preservation of his life, through the ill effects of this prolonged stay ashore.

Captain James W. V. Arbuckle, of the Royal Marine Battalion, who was appointed to take command of the Marines attached to the Brigade, having fallen sick, his place was most efficiently filled by Lieutenant Crosbie, who was present with his men in every engagement with the enemy, in one of which he was slightly wounded.

Mr. Maltby, who is temporarily filling the Lieutenant's vacancy caused by the deeply to be regretted death of Captain William Hans Blake, of the "Druid," (who landed in command of the Brigade), is a young Officer of great promise in the service, and I am pleased at having the opportunity of bringing his name to their Lordship's favourable notice.

The services of Mr. Cox and the other Medical Officers of the Naval Brigade, will be brought to notice in a separate Despatch, in which it is my intention to lay before their Lordships the excellent arrangements of Staff-Surgeon Second Class Henry Fegan, M.D., of this ship (who landed in charge), for the care and comfort of the sick and wounded.

The steady behaviour of Lieutenant Robert B. Pipon, of this ship, and his Company when returning from the affair at Bouborassie, on the 31st January, on which occasion the rear guard was greatly harrassed, has been specially brought to my notice ; and on another occasion this Officer is mentioned as having, with his Company, rendered the most material aid to Lord Gifford and his scouts at the destruction of Becquah.

I have a high opinion of Lieutenant Pipon's professional ability, and it is with much pleasure that I recommend him to the favourable notice of their Lordships.

Captain Hunt Grubbe informs me that the services of Lieutenant William F. S. Mann, of Her Majesty's ship "Amethyst," who acted as Adjutant to the Brigade, were most valuable. This Officer bears a reputation of being a smart and energetic Officer.

Sub-Lieutenant Wyatt Rawson, of Her Majesty's ship "Active," did very excellent work while attached to the Land Transport Service. His energy and tact did much to encourage the carriers, and as there was often very great difficulty in procuring people to transport stores and provisions to the front, the value of Mr. Rawson's services cannot be over-rated. There being a vacancy in the "Himalaya" for a Lieutenant, I gave this Officer an acting order to fill it, and he has proceeded to England in that ship.

Sub-Lieutenant Rawson was wounded in the thigh by a slug.

I notice with satisfaction that the services of Lieutenant Angus McLeod, of the "Barracouta," and Mr. Charles Gladstone, Midshipman of the "Druid," who acted as Aide-de-Camp to Captain Hunt Grubbe, are favourably recorded.

At the battle of Amoaful the left and right wings of the Brigade were respectively commanded by Commander Percy P. Luxmore (now acting Captain of the "Druid"), and Lieutenant Gerard H. U. Noel, already referred to, and the manner in which they led their men into action was highly creditable to them.

It is now my duty to place upon record the valuable assistance I have received in the conduction of affairs at the hands of Captain George Henry Parkin, of Her Majesty's ship "Victor Emanuel."

During my absence in the front, this Officer carried out the duties of the port most ably and efficiently, and for this, as well as for the activity and zeal he displayed in his superintendence of the re-embarkation of the troops, my thanks are due to him.

The landing of the several regiments was superintended by Commander Herbert F. Crohan, the principal Transport Officer afloat, assisted by Mr. H. H. Hannay, Navigating Lieutenant of the "Active," and the manner in which both these Officers carried out this important service reflects very great credit on them.

Their Lordships will easily conceive the heavy and responsible duties which have devolved upon Commander Robert Lowther Byng, of my pendant ship, during these operations, and it is with much satisfaction that I have to record the efficient and thorough manner in which he, at all times, conducted them.

The important service of blockading the windward coast, has, for the most part, been carried out under the direction of Captain Richard Bradshaw, who, in the "Encounter" was some time Senior Officer of a Squadron, specially placed under his orders. Lieutenant Edward Fitzgerald Day of the "Merlin," was for a long time detached on this service, and in common with the Lieutenants Commanding the other gun vessels similarly employed, showed great vigilance in preventing the landing of munitions of war within the limits of the blockade.

Captain Alfred John Chatfield, in Her Majesty's ship "Amethyst," at all times showed great zeal and activity in carrying out the service he was detailed for. For some time he was employed in guarding our position at Addah-Foah, at the entrance of the River Volta, and had charge of a station extending from Accra to Elmina-Chica.

I regret that my multifarious duties gave me no opportunity to make an inspection of the "Amethyst," as, from what I have seen of the ship, I feel convinced my report could not have been other than satisfactory. I must now bring to the notice of their Lordships the valuable services of Acting Commander John Hext, who, when Lieutenant in Command of the "Decoy," was constantly employed in active service, which he always conducted with much intelligence and zeal; and I readily endorse the high eulogiums which have been passed upon him by the various senior Officers whom he has served under during the many months he has been stationed on the Gold Coast. The appointment this Officer at present holds was given to him as a mark of my appreciation of his good services.

I wish to bring to the favourable notice of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty the services of Mr. Thomas Cowd, Gunner Second Class, of this ship; this Officer landed at the commencement of the operations, and had charge of the carriers who transported the first supplies of stores and provisions sent to the front.

Fever, brought on by exposure and hard work, obliged Mr. Cowd to return to the coast soon after the Naval Brigade was landed; he soon, however, resumed his ordinary duties on board the ship, and his conduct at all times deserves my praise. I cannot pass by the manner in which Mr. Harry S. F. Niblett, Sub-Lieutenant of this ship, has throughout performed his onerous duties. This young officer has had charge of the steam pinnace during the operations, and I cannot speak too highly of the way in which he executed his orders—I would point out that the services he performed were not merely those ordinarily assigned to an Officer of his standing—and on many occasions he has attracted my attention by the cheerful, active, creditable way in which he carried out whatever was required of him.

Their Lordships would observe that good conduct, zeal, and activity has characterised the services of the whole squadron, and in concluding my Despatch I have only to add that the aid rendered by those artificers of the squadron who were landed to construct huts, &c., along the road to the Prah, and who are reported to me for their good services in the enclosed letter from Major Home, R.E. (under whose directions they worked), was most valuable.

I have, &c.

(Signed) W. N. W. HEWETT,
Commodore.

Her Majesty's Ship "Tamar," Cape Coast Castle,

SIR,

February 19, 1874.

I HAVE the honour to report the return of the Royal Naval Brigade under my command at Cape Coast Castle this morning, also that in pursuance of orders received on the beach the Officers, seamen, and marines comprising it have been sent to their respective ships.

On assuming the command of the Brigade at Acarafoom, on the 22nd of January, the strength was as follows :—Officers, 18 ; seamen, 154 ; marines, 54. The names of the Officers, with the respective duties assigned to them are as follows :—

Commander Percy Luxmore, Her Majesty's ship "Argus," Second in Command.

Lieutenant Gerard Noel, Her Majesty's ship "Active," Brigade Major.

Lieutenant Edward S. Evans, Senior Lieutenant, Her Majesty's ship "Encounter," Commanding No. 4 Company.

Lieutenant A. B. Pipon, Her Majesty's ship "Active," Commanding No. 1 Company.

Lieutenant W. F. S. Mann, Senior Lieutenant Her Majesty's ship "Amethyst," Adjutant.

Lieutenant Angus McLeod, Her Majesty's ship "Barracouta," in charge of Transports.

Sub-Lieutenant Victor Bradshaw, Her Majesty's ship "Encounter," Sub-Lieutenant of Company.

Sub-Lieutenant Charles Windham, Her Majesty's ship "Active," Sub-Lieutenant of Company.

Sub-Lieutenant Gerald Maltby, Her Majesty's ship "Active," Commanding No. 3 Company.

Sub-Lieutenant Tom Ficklin, Her Majesty's ship "Active," Sub-Lieutenant of Company.

Sub-Lieutenant Wyatt Rawson, Her Majesty's ship "Active," Transports.

Sub-Lieutenant Augustus Coker, Her Majesty's ship "Druid," Commanding No. 2 Company.

Sub-Lieutenant Archibald Kennedy, Her Majesty's ship "Druid," Sub-Lieutenant of Company.

Midshipman Charles Gladstone, Her Majesty's ship "Druid," Aide-de-Camp to Commanding Officer.

Lieutenant Adolphus Crosbie, Royal Marine Light Infantry, Her Majesty's ship "Active," Commanding Royal Marines.

Lieutenant Richard Deane, Royal Marine Light Infantry, Commanding No. 2 Company Royal Marine Light Infantry.

Staff-Surgeon Henry Fegan, M.D., Her Majesty's ship "Active," Principal Medical Officer.

Surgeon John Fisher, Her Majesty's ship "Decoy."

In addition to these, at Prahsu, Sub-Lieutenant Lloyd Matthews and Dr. Henry Cox were left in charge of sick, and at Quisah Sub-Lieutenant Robert L. Mundy and Mr. C. J. May, Midshipman, joined the Brigade.

The Brigade proceeded by marches ranging from 10 to 13 miles per day en route to Coomassie. Nothing of note occurred until our arrival at Medowina, a small village adjacent to Kiang Boassa. Here we were ordered, in company with some of the 23rd Regiment, Wood's and Russell's Regiments, and Rait's Artillery, to attack the village of Boubarasu, where it was known a large body of the enemy was assembled. This was most successfully accomplished, with the loss on our part of 3 men wounded. No. 1 Company, commanded by Lieutenant R. B. Pipon, especially being noticed by Colonel M-Leod, C.B., for their steadiness when the rear guard was attacked in returning from the village.

On the 31st January the battle of Amoaful was fought, full details of which have already been forwarded.

On this occasion the conduct of the whole Brigade was most creditable. My best thanks are due to Captain Percy Luxmore and Lieutenant Gerard Noel, who commanded the left and right wings respectively, and to the Officers under them, for the manner in which the men were taken into action and the steadiness shown under a heavy fire. Dr. Fisher accompanied the left wing and Dr. Turton (Staff), of the Army, the right, and our numerous wounded were, by them, on the field treated with the greatest skill and care.

Lieutenant Angus McLeod on this occasion, through the temporary indisposition of Lieutenant Deane, commanded his company of Marines throughout the day, and was highly spoken of by Captain Luxmore.

On the following day the Brigade was again engaged in the destruction of Bequoi, having 1 man killed and 2 wounded. On this occasion Lord Gifford states, that "but for Lieutenant Pipon's Company, his scouts would have suffered most materially." The forward march was resumed on the 2nd February, the Brigade forming the rear guard, which position it retained until the occupation of Coomassie, occasionally detaching a portion for the purpose of protecting convoys.

The night of the 3rd was marked was by incessant rain, with thunder and lightning, the men being without shelter having left the baggage packed at Agomana to facilitate the rapid forward movements. On the morning of the 4th the battle of the Dah was fought, of which I have already furnished details. On this, as on every occasion, the Brigade evinced the same steadiness and good conduct.

On February 6, at 6.30 A.M., we left Coomassie as advance guard, and after a very fatiguing march reached Agamama, distant about seventeen miles. The recrossing of the Dah was effected with great difficulty, the bridge being two feet under water. The Blue jackets and Kroomen here showed great skill in strengthening the buttresses and placing handrails.

From this time the health and strength of both officers and men became much impaired, and I regret to say that several serious cases of dysentery arose, many of which have since terminated fatally.

We reached Prahsu on the 12th, leaving next day for Yancoomassie (Assim), en route, by regular stages, to the coast.

The strength of the Naval Brigade on arrival at Cape Coast was as follows:—7 officers, 78 seamen, 32 marines.

I especially wish to recommend the following officers to your notice:—

Lieutenant Gerard Noel who has been landed since 27th November, 1873, and who is a most deserving steady Officer.

Lieutenant W. F. S. Mann, of whom I cannot speak too highly. He has been Adjutant to the Brigade, and is a most smart and energetic Officer.

Staff Surgeon Second Class Henry Fegan, has been night and day unremitting in his care of sick and wounded, his conduct has been beyond praise.

Sub-Lieutenant Wyatt Rawson, the efficient manner in which this Officer conducted the Transport, not only for the Naval Brigade, but in assisting the Control has been very noticeable. He was wounded at Amoaful.

Mr. Gladstone, Midshipman, served as my Aide-de-Camp and made himself of great use.

I have desired the different Officers who commanded companies to bring to the notice of their respective Captains, those petty officers, seamen, and marines whom they may think to be deserving.

I am, &c.,

Captain in Charge of Naval Brigade.

I HAVE the honour to report that the Naval Carpenters, as per margin,* placed at my disposal some weeks ago by your kindness, have been paid up to date, and ordered to rejoin their ships this evening.

I have much pleasure in reporting to you the universal good conduct of these men ; their readiness in performing every duty they were called on to perform, no matter whether like pickaxe and shovel work they had no training in it, their cheerfulness under all difficulties, often very great, and their readiness to help in every way, gave me the greatest satisfaction, and they were really most important and valuable assistance, more especially in the construction of the Prah bridge, made before the arrival of the 28th Company Royal Engineers. Where all have done their duty it is an invidious and unpleasant task to make selections, but those who more especially attracted my notice were Carpenter's Mate William Hansom, Shipwright Joseph Parminter, Carpenter's Mate James Salter ; I need not say that when under fire all these men behaved most admirably.

I shall be very glad if these men's services receive some recognition.

"Active," at Cape Coast,

March 4, 1874.

SIR,

IN my letter of the 3rd March, I abstained from touching upon the individual services of the Medical Officers of the Squadron, as I felt that they demanded my special attention, and that I could not have done justice to them excepting in a special Despatch.

I have now the honour to request that you will acquaint the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, that the care and attention paid to the wants of the sick and wounded, as they came down from the front, by the Staff-Surgeons in charge of the Hospital arrangements at Cape Coast, viz. :—

Dr. Ahmuty Irwin (of the "Simoom," and afterwards in the "Himalaya") ;

2 G

Dr. John Watt Reid, R.N. (of the Transport No. 15, "Nebraska"); and

Dr. William J. Hamilton, of the "Tamar" (for a short period during the absence of the "Simoom" and "Himalaya," and before the arrival of the "Nebraska"), could not have been surpassed.

Referring to the enclosed letter addressed to me by Major-General Sir Garnet Wolseley, forwarding a copy of a report made to him by Surgeon-Major W. A. McKinnon, the Army Principal Medical Officer, their Lordships' attention will be attracted by the excellent services of Dr. Henry Fegan Staff-Surgeon Second Class of this ship (who was in medical charge of the Naval Brigade), and Dr. James W. Fisher (late "Decoy"), attached to his Staff.

I cannot say more in praise of these Officers, services, than that I fully concur in the opinions expressed by the Major-General and Dr. McKinnon.

Dr. Fegan's kindness and unremitting attention to the sick have on many occasions during the period he has served under my command. come under my special notice, and in my letter of 7th January, 1874, I referred to this Officer's conspicuous conduct in the field.

Dr. Fegan has represented to me that Surgeon James W. Fisher, M.D., identified himself from first to last most thoroughly with his duties, much to his satisfaction.

Whilst attached to the left wing at the battle of Amoaful, this Officer had to endure heavy fire for five hours.

Surgeon James McCarthy, M.D., was selected for the onerous and highly responsible duty of taking charge of the Naval Hospital established at Prahsu, where the sick and wounded accumulated from the front. Whilst in the route of march, he shared the duties of the brigade, and night and day this Officer performed his duty in a manner which excited the esteem of all.

Surgeon H. T. Cox was selected from the squadron for charge of the first landing party, and subsequently joined the Brigade. He was detailed to convoy the sick and wounded along the line of march, and he performed his duty with such care and regard for their comfort as to merit the special approbation of his superiors.

The services of Dr. Walter Reid, attached to the Transport Service, in his capacity as Health Officer, deserve the favourable consideration of their Lordships. His duties have been very important, having to board all ships to inspect their bills of health, and to his careful inspection of the state of the health of those on board, may in a great measure be attributed the happy circumstance of there having been no epidemic disease introduced amongst the Europeans stationed at Cape Coast from the many infected ports to leeward of it.

Dr. Fegan has specially drawn my attention to the valuable services of 15th Company, Plymouth Division, Richard Townsend (invalided), and he states that though efficiently performing his other duties "he attended the sick and wounded throughout the campaign, and on the termination of each day's march he acted as dispenser." I should be glad if their Lordships deemed it right to give this man some pecuniary reward.

I have by this mail forwarded a copy of the Principal Medical Officer's letter to the Secretary of State for War.

February 21, 1874.

I HAVE the honour to bring to the notice of his Excellency the Major-General Commanding, for the information of the Lords of the Admiralty, the valuable services rendered during the Ashantee campaign by Staff-Surgeon Fegan, R.N.

In the several engagements this Officer was always present with his Brigade under fire, and was most devoted and fearless in the performance of his duties in the field: his constant care and attention to the sick and wounded always merited my highest approbation; and the admirable arrangements made by him for their welfare evidenced that he is possessed of high administrative abilities. I cannot speak too highly of the manner in which this Officer has performed his duties, and co-operated with myself and the other Médical Officers, and of his excellent services, not only to the Officers and men specially under his own care, but to all others of the force that required his aid.

I have no doubt his services will be brought to the notice of the proper authorities by the Senior Naval Officer, but I feel that I would not be doing my duty, as Principal Medical Officer of the expedition, if I did not specially record my opinion of the zeal and ability displayed by this Officer in the discharge of his professional duties, and of the valuable services he rendered throughout.

Before concluding this letter, I must also bring under your most favourable consideration the very excellent services rendered by Surgeon Fisher, R.N., who was in all the engagements under fire, and who has been most favourably reported to me by his superior Officer for his zeal and devotion to duty, and during the whole time he has been in the field.

I have, &c.,

FROM THE
LONDON GAZETTE of MARCH 31,
1874.

War Office, March 30, 1874.

DESPATCHES, of which the following are copies, were received at the War Office, from Major-General Sir Garnet J. Wolseley, K.C.M.G., C.B., Commanding Her Majesty's Forces on the Gold Coast, on the 2nd January and 7th March respectively, but have not hitherto been published :—

Head Quarters, Cape Coast Castle,

SIR,

December 15, 1873.

In my Despatch which accompanies this, I have had the great satisfaction to report that the Ashanti army has crossed the River Prah into its own territory, and that my advanced parties are in occupation of Prahsue, on the south bank.

The first phase of this war has thus been brought to a most satisfactory conclusion, without the assistance of any English troops, except the few marines and the available blue-jackets whom I found here on my arrival on the 2nd October last.

At that date the position of affairs was as follows :—An invading army of Ashantis numbering between twenty and thirty thousand men, having overrun the Fanti territory, occupied threatening positions within an easy march of Her Majesty's Forts at Elmina and Cape Coast Castle. The country was filled with alarms of intended attacks upon our settlements ; public confidence in us was at a very low ebb, every movement on our part was known to the enemy, regarding whose intentions, movements, numbers, or even exact position, little information was possessed by our authorities.

I submit that the happy change which has been since that time effected has been accomplished by the untiring exertions of the few carefully selected Staff and special service Officers who landed with me here at the beginning of October.

In the second phase of this war, when the campaign is opened in Ashanti territory beyond the Prah, by a brigade of English troops, the operations may be more brilliant than those which have resulted in forcing the enemy to retreat into their own country ; but I feel assured that they cannot entail upon those engaged in them the hard work, exposure, and privations that have been so cheerfully endured for the last two months and a half by the small band of Officers, of whom I speak. Of them one has been killed in action, two very severely wounded, and several slightly wounded.

The material used in the late operations (the sailors and marines, the detachment 2nd West India Regiment, and the natives) was here before their arrival ; but the raising and disciplining the natives, their organization for the field, and the directions given to the various forces, has been the work of these Officers, with whom I would wish to couple the names of Lieutenant-Colonel Festing, Royal Marine Artillery, and Lieutenant Gordon, 98th Regiment, whose zeal and energy deserve all praise—the former Officer has been twice wounded, but never prevented from remaining at his work.

In my Despatch of 15th October, wherein I reported that Colonel McNeill, V.C., C.M.G., my chief Staff Officer, had been very severely wounded, I stated my high opinion of his abilities, and how deeply I felt being deprived of his valuable services.

Since then his very arduous work has been carried on to my entire satisfaction by Major Baker, Assistant Adjutant-General, to whose untiring exertions much of our success is owing.

The amount of work performed by him can only be realized by those who have witnessed it, as the Staff duties with a regular army afford no data upon which an opinion can be formed of the labour that devolves upon the chief Staff Officer of a force such as that under my command. As Major Baker is about to be superseded in his position as chief Staff Officer by a senior Officer now on his way here, I take this opportunity of bringing his name to your favourable notice.

Major Baker has been ably assisted by the Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General, Captain Huyshe and Captain Buller, who have performed their work most efficiently. The former has had charge of the Survey, and the latter of the Intelligence Department.

Of the Special Service Officers, where all have worked so hard and so earnestly, it is no easy matter to particularize individuals.

The two seniors, Lieutenant-Colonel Wood, V.C., and Major Russell, have each raised a regiment of the strength named in the margin.* Lieutenant-Colonel Wood commanded at the engagement at Essaman, as mentioned in my Despatch of October 15th, in which I stated my appreciation of the manner in which he carried out the orders he had received. He is now commanding the advanced posts from Mansue to the River Prah, and displays both zeal and ability in the discharge of his duties. Major Russell had the good fortune to command at Abrakrampa when that place was attacked for two days and nights by the main body of the enemy under their Commander-in-Chief. The attacks of the first day and night are well described in Major Russell's modest report which I had the honour to enclose in my despatch of the 7th ultimo. The defence, resulting in the hurried retreat of the enemy, was conducted by him in the most spirited and able manner. I have great pleasure in bringing the names of Lieutenant-Colonel Wood, V.C., and Major Russell to your special notice.

Captain Rait, Commanding Royal Artillery, has raised and drilled a battery composed of Houssas.

* Wood's Regiment, 413; Russell's Regiment, 540.

He has worked indefatigably under great disadvantages. He is a soldier eminently qualified for warfare of this nature, and he seems to regard difficulties as necessary evils to be made light of and overcome. I am anxious to bring his name to your notice, as he, like Major Baker, is about to be superseded by a senior officer of Royal Artillery sent from England.

Major Home, Commanding Royal Engineers, has worked untiringly since we landed, and few that have not inspected the results of his labour could believe it possible that so much could have been performed in two and a half month's with the small assistance at his disposal.

The Officers of the Control and Medical Departments have worked with the greatest zeal and energy ; but as the end of the first phase of the war does not mark any distinct epoch in their duties, I shall reserve bringing them individually before you till the termination of hostilities.

I have, &c.

(Signed) G. J. WOLSELEY.

The Right Hon. the Major-General.
Secretary of State for War.

Head Quarters, Agimamu, 13 miles south of Coomassie,

SIR, February 7, 1874.

IT is with the greatest regret that I have to report, for the information of His Royal Highness the Field Marshal Commanding in Chief, the death of Captain Buckle, Royal Engineers, and Lieutenant Eyre, 90th Light Infantry, both of whom were mortally wounded in action against the enemy ; the former, at the battle of Amoaful, on the 31st ult., and the latter at that of Ordasu, on the 4th instant.

In making this report, I cannot refrain from stating what a great loss the army has experienced in the death of these two gallant Officers, who expired within an hour of receiving their wounds.

Captain Buckle was, undoubtedly, one of the most accomplished and practical Engineer Officers of his rank in the Service.

I have, &c.,

 Major-General.

The Queen has been pleased to direct Letters Patent to be passed under the Great Seal granting the dignities of Baron and Earl of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland unto Henry Thomas, Baron Ravensworth, and the heirs male of his body lawfully begotten, by the names, styles, and titles of Baron Eslington, of Eslington Park, in the county of Northumberland, and Earl of Ravensworth, of Ravensworth Castle, in the county palatine of Durham.

Whitehall, March 28, 1874.

The Queen has been pleased to give and grant unto Sir Samuel Baker, Knt., Her Royal licence and authority that he may accept and wear the Insignia of the Imperial Order of the Medjidie of the Second Class, and of the Order of the Osmanie of the Second Class, conferred upon him by the Sultan, in approbation of his services while actually and entirely employed by His Imperial Majesty beyond the Queen's dominions.

War Office, March 28, 1874.

The Queen has been graciously pleased to signify Her intention to confer the decoration of the Victoria Cross on the undermentioned Officer and Non-Commissioned Officer, whose claims to the same have been submitted for Her Majesty's approval, for acts of bravery performed by them during the recent Ashanti War, as recorded against their names ; viz. :—

24th Regiment.

Lieutenant Lord Gifford.

For his gallant conduct during the operations, and especially at the taking of Becquah.

The Officer commanding the Expeditionary Force reports that Lord Gifford was in charge of the Scouts after the Army crossed the Prah, and that it is no exaggeration to say that since the Adansi Hills were passed, he daily carried his life in his hand in the performance of his most dangerous duties. He hung upon the rear of the enemy, discovering their position, and ferreting out their intentions. With no other white man with him, he captured numerous prisoners ; but Sir Garnet Wolseley brings him forward for this mark of Royal favour most especially for his conduct at the taking of Becquah, into which place he penetrated with his scouts before the troops carried it, when his gallantry and courage were most conspicuous.

42nd Regiment.

Lance-Serjeant Samuel McGaw.

Date of Act of Bravery, January 31, 1874.

For having at the battle of Amoaful led his Section through the bush in the most excellent manner, continuing to do so throughout the whole day, although badly wounded early in the engagement.

War Office, March 31, 1874.

THE Queen has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following promotions in, and appointments to, the Most Honourable Order of the Bath.

Board of Trade (Harbour Department), Whitehall Gardens, April 27, 1874.

THE Board of Trade have received through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs a Despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Monte Video, stating that the quarantine regulations in the ports of that Republic imposed upon vessels arriving from Argentine ports had been relaxed (excepting those upon vessels arriving from Buenos Ayres), but are again in full force on account of an outbreak of cholera in Entre Rios.

It is also stated that the authorities at Buenos Ayres had, on account of the exception of that port from the number of those the vessels arriving from which had met with some relaxation of the quarantine regulations in Monte Video, declared all Argentine ports closed against vessels arriving from all Uruguayan ports, though the latter are not infected. This prohibition does not apply to packets or to ships from the ocean calling for orders at Monte Video.

As the cholera was diminishing at Buenos Ayres it was hoped that the above arrangements would not continue long in force.

THE Board of Trade have received through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs a Despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid, enclosing a translation of a Decree of the Spanish authorities relative to vessels which undergo quarantine in Spanish ports.

An extract from the translation is subjoined :—

(Translation).

SIR,—With reference to your proposal of this date, and considering that many captains of foreign ships, taking advantage of the convenient geographical situation of our lazarets at San Simon, Tambo, Mahon, and Santander, prefer passing their quarantine in one of them instead of passing it in the countries to which they are bound, and so by their contributions to the support of the above-mentioned establishments are of considerable importance to the Treasury.

The President of the Executive of the Republic has decided :

1. That vessels putting into the lazarets with the sole object of purging their quarantine, shall be considered as doing so under “relâche forcée,” and shall as such come under the Customs’ Regulations and Decree of May 30 of last year, provided that their documents are in perfect order for admission into the foreign country to which they are bound, and that they measure at least 80 metric tons if laden with tobacco, textile goods, or any colonial produce enumerated in Art. 4 of the above-mentioned Decree of the 30th May, but that in case all and each of these conditions are not fulfilled they shall remain subject to the general laws.

* * * * *

By order of the President I communicate this to you for your information and guidance.

THE following Address of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland, having been transmitted by Francis Robert, Earl of Rosslyn, Her Majesty's Commissioner, to the Right Honourable Richard Assheton Cross, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, has been by him presented to the Queen, which Address Her Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously :—

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Ministers and Elders of the National Church of Scotland met in General Assembly, beg to tender our humble and hearty thanks for your gracious communication.

Your Majesty's expressed determination to uphold the forms of our Presbyterian worship, government, and discipline demands, as it secures, our most grateful acknowledgments, the zeal and prudence which your Majesty condescendingly ascribes to our deliberations only encourages us to deserve, in any measure, your Royal approbation, and under a yet higher motive, we shall strive so to regulate our proceedings as to spread a knowledge of spiritual things more and more among the people, and induce them more earnestly to attend to their highest interests, both for time and eternity.

Holding the constitution of every country bound to acknowledge and support that religion which enforces honour to the Sovereign and obedience to the laws, we rejoice that your Majesty not only recognises our Supreme Court, but that your Royal person is represented in its midst. This becoming homage to the King of Kings is paid in the person of a Scottish nobleman, well qualified to discharge the duties of Lord High Commissioner, and whose appointment we therefore hail as a renewed augury of your Majesty's interest in our venerable establishment.

Your Majesty's continued grant of two thousand pounds, for the spiritual enlightenment and progress of our Highlands and Islands, of which be pleased to accept our warmest recognition, shall be conscientiously devoted to the purposes of the generous donation.

That Almighty God, by whom kings reign, may preserve in health your gracious person, in peace your immortal soul, in stability your noble Throne, and in efficiency your Civil Government ; that you may be enriched with every blessing here and in heavenly places, is the sincere wish, the ardent prayer of

May it please your Majesty, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the Ministers and Elders of the Church of Scotland met in this General Assembly.

Of Brazilian Vessels.

ART. 1. No merchant vessel shall be declared to be Brazilian unless the same be competently registered as the exclusive property of a Brazilian citizen, or of Brazilian citizens, even though they may reside out of the Empire; the condition of Art. 457, last part, of the Commercial Code (Law No. 2,348 of the 25th August, 1873, Act. 11, sec. 5, No. 8), being thus abrogated.

Sec. 1. Should the vessel have been constructed in a foreign country, the registry shall be made on view of the extraordinary passport treated of in Art. 147 of the Consular Regulation, No. 4,968 of the 24th May, 1872, and which ought to contain the specifications required by Art. 462 of the Commercial Code.

Sec. 2. The captains, masters, and mates may be either natives or foreigners, provided that one-third, at least, of the whole crew be Brazilians (Law cited, Art. 11, sec. 5, No. 9). The Brazilian merchant vessels are not subject to the payment of anchorage dues in the ports of the Empire; and those vessels that are employed in the coasting trade shall enjoy, besides this, the following favours:—

Sec. 1. Exemption from certificates of discharge, and from all instruments of security and responsibility, of which Arts. 458, sec. 2, 501, and 645 of the Regulation of the Customs treat.

On verifying the fact that the said vessels did not discharge all or part of the goods of national produce and manufacture in the port of their destination, the respective commanders shall incur a fine of from 5 to 20 dollars per package for not discharging them, and of from 5 to 20 per cent. on the value of the goods which are missing, should they have come loose in bulk—besides the export duty—as if they were to leave the country.

Sec. 2. Exemption from clearance in the Customs and Revenue Departments of the merchandize which they may carry to ports which have no Custom-house. A simple pass shall be given to shippers, signed by the Chief of the Department, or by the employé authorized by him, of the Fiscal Department of the port from whence the vessels took their departure, furnished with which they may take their goods on board.

Sec. 2. The formalities of entry and departure, of which Arts. 18 and 19 of the Regulation of the Captaincies of the Ports, No. 447 of the 19th May, 1846, treats (Law cited, Art. 11, sec. 5, No. 3), will be dispensed with.

Sec. 3. Exemption from military recruitment in favour of Brazilians belonging to the effective crew, who, only in case of war, shall be obliged to serve in the navy of the State (Law and Articles cited, No. 10).

ART. 3. The captains or masters may freely engage the individuals who ought to compose their crews, save the limitations of Art. 1, sec. 3, of this Regulation, and that of Art. 499 of the Commercial Code.

The Captaincies of Ports will not take cognizance of the disputes that may arise on such agreements between the parties interested ; the latter should have recourse to the Commercial Judge.

ART. 4. On the departure of the vessel, the captain or master shall deliver to the Registering Officer of the port the list of his crew, which shall be dealt with as Art. 19 of the cited Regulation of the Captaincies of the Ports appoints.

CHAPTER 2.

Of the Building Yards.

ART. 5. Naval building yards are not subject to the impost on industries and professions ; but they should be inscribed in the proper Departments with the declaration of their being exempt (Law No. 2,843 of 1873, Art. 11, sec. 5, No. 7).

ART. 6. The shipwrights and workmen who are constantly employed in those establishments shall be exempt from all National Guard service in time of peace (Law cited, Art. 11, sec. 5, No. 5).

ART. 7. The first sale or equivalent act of a vessel built in a national yard is exempt from the duty on transmission of property (Law cited, Art. 11, Sec. 5, No. 2).

ART. 8. The proprietors of ships built in the Empire, and of which the measurement is more than 100 metric tons, shall be entitled to a premium of 50 dollars per ton (Law cited, Art. 11, Sec. 5, No. 2).

Sec. 1. The said premium shall be granted by the Minister of Finance, and paid in the National Treasury when the ships shall have been built in yards in the municipality of the capital, or that of the Province of Rio de Janeiro, and in the Treasuries of Finance Department when they shall have been built in the other provinces.

Sec. 2. For the granting of the premium the proprietor must present, besides the register, a certificate from the builder of the ship, and from the Fiscal Authority of the place where she was built, or, in default of this functionary, the municipal chamber of the district, stating that the hull and masts of the ships were prepared in the Empire. When the builder is also the proprietor of the ship, the second of the above documents will be sufficient.

ART. 9. The following are entirely exempt from transference dues :—

1. The purchase of “Jangadas” and national fishing boats (Alvará of 20th October, 1842, sec. 4).

2. The purchase of steamers intended for the service of navigation companies authorized by law, and existing in the Empire, whether they are or are not built in national yards (Law No. 243 of 30th November, 1841, Article 27).

CHAPTER 3.

On Foreign Vessels.

ART. 10. Foreign vessels may continue freely to carry on the coasting trade of merchandize of national or foreign production between the ports of the Empire in which there may be a Custom-house, or a Customs' Revenue Department (Decree No. 3,631 of 29th March, 1866, Law No. 2,348 of the 25th August, 1873, Art. 11, sec. 5).

Excepting, as far as concerns the ports in which are Revenue Officers, the transport of foreign merchandize which has not yet paid duties on consumption.

ART. 11. The owners or consignees of foreign ships which may conduct the coasting trade, shall sign an instrument of responsibility, in conformity with Art. 645 of the Regulation of the Customs, binding himself to pay the export duty of the national produce or manufacture which they may carry. For the calculation of the respective duty, the value given in the weekly tariff will serve as a basis.

The Fiscal Department in which the clearance paper is made, may insist on the said instrument of guarantee being also signed by a responsible bondsman, who will be personally answerable for the obligation contracted.

ART. 12. For the annulling the instrument of which the preceding Article treats, the owner or consignee of the ship shall present a certificate of its having been actually discharged, passed by the Fiscal Department of the port of destination of the goods. That document shall be written by the Department which received it, on the margin of the said instrument.

Sole paragraph. The said certificate should be exhibited within the term of four months, which may be prolonged, should the motive be considered a sufficient one to be attended to, in the judgment of the Chief of the Department, to which Art. 11 refers, for two months longer ; under penalty of the signers of the instrument of responsibility being subject to pay the export duty.

ART. 13. The foreign vessels employed in the coasting trade shall be freed from visit, prescribed in Art. 457 of the Regulation of 19th September, 1860, on proving by certificate that they were visited in the port of the Empire where they had to complete the discharge of the merchandise arrived from foreign ports, and subject to the duties on consumption.

Sole paragraph. The said vessels shall also be exempt from the security required in Art. 501 of the cited Regulation of the Customs.

ART. 14. Foreign vessels may report their entries in maritime ports, or those in the interior where there may not happen to be a Custom-house, or a Customs' Revenue Department, first obtaining the permit, of which Art. 318 of the Regulation of the Customs treats.

This permit may be granted by the Inspector of the Customs, under whose jurisdiction is the port of destination of the vessel, under the following circumstances :—

Firstly. For the discharge of foreign merchandise, which shall have already paid consumption duty.

Secondly. For loading, with destination to foreign ports, merchandise the produce or manufacture of the country.

ART. 15. In the second case of the preceding article foreign vessels should clear for export in the Custom-house which granted them the permit the merchandise which is the produce or manufacture of the country.

The respective Inspector will take such measures as will best suit the fiscal interests in the manner of verifying the clearance referred to ; he can appoint one or more employés to assist in loading, and in taking the account of the quantity as well as the quality of the merchandise shipped.

ART. 16. Save the modifications made by the present regulation all other dispositions in force respecting this service shall be applicable to the foreign vessels employed in the coasting trade.

General Dispositions.

ART. 17. The captains or masters of sailing vessels employed in the coasting trade shall be exempted from the obligation of making known the day of departure to the Administrations of the Post Offices, when they may be destined to ports at which the mail transport service is effected regularly by steamers or couriers.

ART. 18. The captains and masters of vessels in the coasting trade in general are likewise excused from soliciting the bill of health, of which Art. 42 of the Decree, No. 2,409 of the 27th April, 1859, treats, save in the case of a special order to the contrary, which may be issued by the Health Department of the port in cases of epidemic disorders.

ART. 19. The clearance of merchandise in transitu for re-exportation, reloading, or transportation coastwise shall continue to be made according to the instructions, No. 133 of 24th May, 1870, whether the vessels are foreign or national.

ART. 20. The Inspectors of Customs and of Revenue Departments will take such measures as may be most fit in order that the captains and masters of ships that perform the coast service shall return to the said Department the duplicates of the clearance papers of the merchandise shipped, with the proper receipt, in time for them to be sent, without fail, by the same ships to the Chief of the Fiscal Department of the port of destination, under a penalty, to the said captain or master, of subjecting himself to the fine incurred according to Art. 382 of the 19th September, 1860.

ART. 21. All depositions to the contrary are revoked.

THE Board of Trade have received through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs a Despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Galveston, transmitting a copy of the following Proclamation

made by the Governor of Texas, declaring quarantine for the Coast of that State :—

PROCLAMATION

by the Governor of the State of Texas.

To all to whom these presents shall come.

I, Richard Coke, Governor of Texas, by virtue of the authority vested in me by a Law of the Legislature of the State of Texas, approved June 10th, 1870, entitled “An Act authorizing quarantine on the coast of Texas, and elsewhere within the State,” do hereby declare quarantine on the coast of Texas, and direct the authorities of every corporate town on the coast to carry out the provisions of the said Act.

Quarantine to extend to all vessels sailing from or touching at any seaport or coast south of north latitude 25 degrees, to wit :

The western coast of Africa, the West India Islands, the eastern coast of South America, of Central America, and of Mexico, and from Key West, Florida.

It is further directed, that the Health Officers at the respective ports, shall as soon as they are reliably informed of the existence of infectious or contagious diseases at any other port, city, town, or village, not herein specially included within this State, or out of it, declare vessels arriving from such places subject to quarantine, and to all regulations established for the enforcement of same.

This quarantine to commence on the first day of June, and continue until the first day of November next, unless sooner suspended.

Vessels sailing from, or touching at any port, or any coast above-mentioned, and entering any port on the coast of Texas, during the continuance of quarantine of such port, if free from disease, may be disinfected and relieved from detention or detained for a term that will make twenty days, from her departure, from the above-named infected ports or districts, at the discretion of the Health Officer. Vessels upon which contagious or infectious diseases appear, shall be detained for twenty-five days after all disease has disappeared from such vessel or vessels, and then allowed to pass.

Health Officers are directed also to provide and enforce such regulations as will prevent all communication with vessels in quarantine.

These officers will also provide for the thorough disinfection of all vessels on which there has been any contagious or infectious disease before they are allowed to leave quarantine, all expenses necessary to such disinfection to be paid by the vessel.

Quarantine stations for enforcement of this proclamation are hereby established at Sabine Pass, Galveston Pass, Pass Cavallo; Aransas Pass, and Brazos Santiago.

The quarantine station shall be established by the proper Health Officers at each of these passes, as near the outer bar as possible, looking to safety of vessels lying at anchor, and convenience in boarding same.

The Health Officer of Brazos Santiago shall also supervise vessels entering at the mouth of the Rio Grande.

The Health Officer to be appointed by the corporate authorities of Galveston, is charged with the enforcement of this proclamation at Galveston Pass; the one to be appointed at Indianola, for Pass Cavallo; the one to be appointed, at Brazos Santiago and the mouth of the Rio Grande; Dr. James Saunders at Sabine Pass; and the one to be appointed at Corpus Christi for Aransas Pass.

The county authorities on the Rio Grande are authorized and directed, until this quarantine is suspended, to establish such regulations as will prevent the importation of disease into this State by land.

The authorities of all seaport towns are referred to the Acts of the Legislature, approved June 10th, 1870, August 13th, 1870, and May 4th, 1874, for such other information as they may require for their guidance.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State to be affixed, at the city of Austin, this 25th day of May, 1874, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the ninety-eighth, and Texas the thirty-ninth.
